BOURBON PARTY OPENS CONVENTION

BOURBON PARTY LEADERS SMILE

Anticipating the usual keynote speechifying at the Democratic National Convention, this trio of party leaders sets a keynote of jubilation and merriment at an informal conference in Philadelphia while waiting for delegates to arrive. Left to right they are W. Forbes Morgan, secretary of the Democratic National committee; Postmaster General James J. Farley, and Charles Michelson, party publicity director.

HIGHWAY WORK WOULD INCLUDE NEW BRIDGES

COMPREHENSIVE improvements to highways of Orange county including construction of at least six bridges, paving and resurfacing of eight secondary roads of considerable importance, and numerous other betterments to the county's roads will be asked of the state by Nat H. Neff, county highway engineer, under a $1,044,750 budget he completed today.

The budget will be sent to the state highway commission at its meeting in Long Beach on July 19 for inclusion in the 1937-38 biennial list of proposed expenditures, Neff said. The highway commission will begin consideration of its budget for the next two years at the Long Beach meeting.

Bridge Locations
Neff said that bridges proposed for construction would be located at the following places, at costs indicated:

Tustin avenue at Santiago creek east of Orange, $50,000, including new approaches; Imperial Highway over the Santa Ana river in Santa Ana canyon, $50,000; Garden Grove boulevard, or Memory Lane, from Verano road in that community to Flower street in Santa Ana, bridge over the Santa Ana river with approaches together with paving of 3.2 miles, $80,000;

Glassett street, Orange, at Santiago creek, bridge with new approaches, $50,000, and two or more spans on the South Main street extension into Corona del Mar, $25,000. In addition to this, money will be asked for the repairing of the bridge over Santa Ana river on the Anaheim-Olive road where $125,000 is proposed to be expended

Firemen Take Place of Confined Dog

BERKELEY, Cal., June 23.—(UP)—Marie Ward, who is blind and whose "seeing-eye" dog is serving a 10-day sentence at the dog pound for fighting, today was escorted by the first of 10 substitutes for the dog.
Miss Ward protested her dog's imprisonment so Fire Chief George Haggarty said: "Each day for the next 10 days a member of the Berkeley fire department will take your dog's place."

BANK ROBBER STABS CAPONE WITH SHEARS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(UP)—Warden James A. Johnston of Alcatraz prison today said that Al Capone, one time Chicago racket and vice baron, had been stabbed by another prisoner.
Capone was "slightly injured" today when another prisoner at Alcatraz penitentiary attacked him with a pair of scissors, the department of justice announced.
At the institution hospital, assistant medical officer reported that the wound appeared to be superficial, the announcement said.
Capone's assailant was named James C. Lucas, a prisoner from Texas serving 30 years for bank robbery.

JAIL ALAMEDA CITY OFFICIAL IN NEW PROBE

OAKLAND, Cal., June 23.—(UP)—The Alameda county grand jury swung abruptly away from its investigation of alleged liquor control and tax appraisal irregularities, today, to take up a new scandal involving the Alameda city administration, long a point of factional dispute in county politics.
District Attorney Earl Warren ordered that Rosworth O. Bryant, superintendent of streets in Alameda city, be held in the county jail pending further investigation of stories he reportedly told the grand jury yesterday.

Bryant was said to have testified that he turned over $1,500 in collections of a new Municipal Employees league to City Manager E. Ray Fritz, target for several recall moves last year, and had failed to receive any receipt for the money.

The story, first told to City Clerk Sherman Blood, City Attorney William J. Locke and Assistant City Attorney Frank Greely, resulted in their resignations. They alleged irregularities existed in the city administration.
Subsequent to Bryant's first appearance before the jury, Fritz appeared and denied receiving the $1,500 referred to by Bryant. In his turn, he said he had loaned the street superintendent $350.
Bryant returned to the stand later in the day and reportedly denied both the story about the $1,500 and the Fritz loan.
Alameda has been split into two political camps in recent years, one faction favoring Fritz, the other demanding his ouster. Recall petitions against Mayor Hans E. Locke and two councilmen, supporters of Fritz, were circulated recently and now are pending in the courts.

FRANCE SEEKS HALT OF FASCIST THREAT

PARIS, June 23.—(UP)—Minister of Interior, Roger Salengro, today demanded special police measures to end Fascist agitation which has taxed the resources of his department since the cabinet decree banning the Croix de Feu and other rightist organizations.
He asked the cabinet to authorize emergency regulations after 50 persons were arrested during clashes between the police and Fascists at Gare St. Lazare.
Official figures showed 204,000 workers remain on strike throughout the country. Crews of vessels registered at Marseilles were ordered to strike as soon as their ships touch French ports.
Thousands of sailors at Marseilles and Rouen tied up more than two score ships. They hoisted red flags to the masts and occupied the vessels causing owners to demand government assistance to restore shipping to normal.

Capture Laguna Beach Bandit SUPERVISORS WIN POINT IN SUIT

BANDIT IS JAILED IN OREGON TOWN

Jerry Vance Tells Police He Will Waive Extradition, Return Here

JERRY CLINTON VANCE, 18, of China, the man who is reported to have wielded the gun in the attack on Bud Marshall, 26-year-old Laguna Beach taxi driver who is fighting for his life in St. Joseph hospital, was arrested in Medford, Oregon, on a telegraphic warrant from Sheriff Logan Jackson.

Vance was arrested by Sheriff S. I. Brown, and according to information received here this afternoon, will waive extradition. Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey made the announcement of the arrest just before 3 o'clock this afternoon. No details regarding the capture were immediately available. Local officers plan to leave tonight to bring back the prisoner.

Youth Confesses

As Harold "Bud" Marshall, 26-year-old Laguna Beach taxi driver, fought death at St. Joseph hospital, the youth broke down and confessed to sheriff's officers that he was involved in the clucking, robbing and shooting of Marshall. He was charged in a complaint, with attempted murder and robbery.

The youth, whose companion escaped, is Edgar "Don" DeFord, 18, of 312 East A street, Ontario, arrested by Chief H. L. Grant and Officer Berkey of Huntington Beach when he stopped his Chevrolet automobile beside Berkey to inquire the condition of Marshall, cruelly attacked Tuesday night in Laguna canyon, shot with a .38 caliber bullet which crashed against his spine, paralyzing him below the waist, robbing of $6 or $7 and callously dumped behind a Laguna Beach restaurant.

Names Companion
The youth who was arrested today is DeFord's pal, Jerry Clinton Vance, 18, of China, who speeded to Los Angeles after the crime and abandoned Marshall's taxicab there. DeFord, placed in solitary confinement broke down and confessed the two had planned the taxi robbery but that it was Vance who did the shooting when Marshall resisted.
Marshall testified at a bedside hearing that the reason the youths took him back to Laguna Beach after the shooting was "because I pleaded with them not to let me lie out here to die and told them I wouldn't tell on them."

Roosevelt Will Pay Visit to County Harbor

President Roosevelt will be a visitor to the Pacific coast late this summer, and while here, intends to inspect the recently completed Newport Harbor project.

This fact was learned today, when Secretary Harry Welch, Newport Beach chamber of commerce, received a telegram from the President. Commodore Soiland, who has been appointed official ambassador representing the U. S. Navy at the Olympic games, is also ambassador at large representing Newport Harbor.
The wire received by Welch today is as follows: "President Roosevelt reiterates his desire to visit Newport bay and personally inspect the achievement of its meritorious harbor. He extends felicitations to the community and plans to reach the coast late in the summer."

BOURBONS IN 'SPLIT' OVER 1936 PLATFORM

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(UP)—Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York and Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia entered the spirited New Deal platform fight today, intensifying the Democratic split between those who seek to bid for "left wing" voters and the southern conservative faction.

With New Deal strategists demanding last minute changes in the president's policy outline as brought to the convention by Sen. Robert F. Wagner of New York, latest platform developments included:

1. Entry of Lehman into the controversy with a demand for a "sound" minimum wage plank. Lehman conferred with Wagner late this morning.

2. George decided to serve on the resolutions committee, thus assuring a strong voice against demands of some New Deal captains for further experimentation.

RESTRICT USE OF WATER AT 'FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(UP)—Preparatory to taking an appeal to the state supreme court, City Attorney John J. O'Toole today began studying a decision of Superior Judge Raglan Tuttle, of Stanislaus county, restricting San Francisco's use of Hetch Hetchy water.
Judge Tuttle granted an injunction to restrain the city from storing any waters of the Tuolumne river except out of the excess remaining after the Turlock and Modesto irrigation districts are supplied with the amounts specified under the Raker act.

Flier and Children Leap From Plane

NEW YORK, June 23.—(UP)—Lieut. Lindsay M. Bawse, army flier, took his three children with him in a death plunge into the sea from the army transport Chateau Thierry in the early morning darkness yesterday, according to a radio message from the ship today.
The message said: "Report death on high seas of First Lieutenant Lindsay M. Bawse, air corps, between 3 and 4 a. m., 22nd June, by going overboard together with his three children. Widow Helen E. Bawse is now on board transport." The Bawses boarded the transport at Panama. The ship is due in Brooklyn June 26.

RULING HITS ATTEMPT TO COLLECT BILL

Court Holds Publisher to Blame for Accepting Illegal Advertising

THE COUNTY supervisors today won the first round of the legal controversy over $6300 in advertising bills incurred for the flood control bond campaign last fall, when Justice Kenneth E. Morrison, of Santa Ana, ruled in substance that the newspapers should have known whether the supervisors had legal authority to authorize such expenditures.

In a test case brought by James S. Farquhar, publisher of the Huntington Beach News, involving a claim of $160 against the supervisors, Justice Morrison sustained a defense demurrer, and allowed ten days to the plaintiff for amending his complaint.

In Good Faith
The demurrer, alleging the general ground that the publisher's complaint did not state a cause of action, raised the particular point that the supervisors, as ex-officio officers of the county flood control district, acted in good faith when they inserted advertising of the flood bonds. The point also was raised that any person dealing with the agents of a corporation, as in the present case, is supposed to know the legal limitations of such agents.
Action of the supervisors in authorizing the expenditures has been held illegal in a previous case by Superior Judge G. K. Seovel, who refused to grant Farquhar's petition for a writ of mandate, to compel County Auditor W. T. Lambert to honor the claims. Judge Seovel's ruling, however, did not go so far as to hold that the supervisors were personally liable for the claims. That remained for another suit to determine.

Farquhar recently filed his action.

PAIR SENTENCED FOR MAIL FRAUD

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—(UP)—Harry Williams and Glenn W. Black, former officials of the Hollywood Dry corporation, of Hollywood and Fresno, today were under sentence of three years imprisonment each for using the mails to defraud.

Federal Judge Harry A. Holzer pronounced sentence late yesterday after denying their motions for a new trial. He ordered them placed on probation for five years after their release on condition that they engage in no more promotional ventures.
Henry M. Derner and Herbert R. Freeland, former employees who pleaded nolo contendere and testified for the state, were placed on five years' probation.

POULTRY WORKERS PICKET IN STRIKE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 23.—(UP)—A strike of 16 warehouse men and four teamsters for higher wages, shorter hours and union recognition, today brought a picket line to the local plant of the poultry producers of central California.
Clyde Barker, plant manager, declared operations would continue despite the strike and that there are "no negotiations pending to settle the differences." He said the plant was having no difficulty meeting its commitments.
Union officials hege, however, said that only one shipment of eggs was hauled from the plant Monday. They said no attempt was being made to halt farmers bringing their eggs to the plant.

FARLEY TAKES UP CHALLENGE FOR NEW DEAL

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(UP)—James A. Farley opened the Democratic national convention today with unqualified acceptance of the Republican challenge to base the presidential campaign on the issue of the New Deal.
The bold, emphatic postmaster-general, who also is chairman of the party's national committee, indicated clearly the chief arguments the New Deal will advance in its campaign for confirmation in national power.

New Deal Issue
"The continuance of the New Deal is the issue," he said. "The question before the American people is clear cut and cannot be disguised. The question is: Shall

Mail Fraud Trial Again Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(UP)—Trial of the 19 defendants in the West America Consolidated Gold Mines company mails fraud trial was continued until June 29 today by Federal Judge Harold Lunderback.
The postponement marked the ninth delay because of illnesses or deaths.
Defense attorneys asked for postponement because Frank Stern, head of the Standard Securities company, one of the defendants, underwent an emergency operation and still is in the hospital.

CONGREGATION FLEES AS MONKEY GOES TO CHURCH

CONSTERNATION reigned supreme Sunday night when a recalcitrant monkey joined the Rev. D. J. Brigham in the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church in Placencia. The monkey took charge of the services, and in a short time had the congregation in a fine state of disorganization.

Sometime ago Willis Hasson, Placencia youth, acquired the monkey. The animal was kept chained at the First Presbyterian church the Sunday evening broke the chain. His first act was to attack John Drew, a neighbor, biting him severely on the hand. Drew, who was in his back yard, first became aware of the monkey when the animal leaped on his back and started pulling his hair. Drew fought with the animal for nearly 20 minutes before he was able to shake him loose and make his escape. It was necessary for Drew to have his badly lacerated hand treated by a doctor.

On his way to church, the monkey jumped on the back of a Mexican girl who frantically fought to rid herself of the pest. The monkey resented her struggles, and

SMITH LEADS 'WALK' FROM CONVENTION

Bolters Fail to Dampen Enthusiasm of Delegates for New Deal Policy

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(UP)—James A. Farley, national Democratic chairman, today gavailed the Democratic national convention to its official start on a week of oratorical fireworks which will culminate Saturday night with acceptance of renomination by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Platform squabbles and rumblings over the "walk" of Al Smith and his associates held only partial attention of delegates as they trekked into the klieg-lighted Philadelphia convention hall.
Slow in arriving at the French gray and blue hall, they were eager for the launching of Democratic retorts at the anti-New Deal blasts fired by the Republicans in their Cleveland assembly two weeks ago.

Farley Arouses Delegates
Farley brought delegates out of their lethargy in the first paragraph of his address when he gazed sternly over the assembly and said:

"The continuance of the New Deal is the issue."
That started a demonstration and delegates leaped out of their seats while the band played "Happy Days Are Here Again." Farley resumed after two minutes of cheering.

"When he mentioned the 'convention in Cleveland' there was a

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED BY BRITISH RULER

LONDON, June 23.—(UP)—King Edward VIII, breaker of many royal precedents during his five months on the throne, celebrated his 42nd birthday in accordance with tradition today.
Chief item of the simple program was the trooping of the color of the horse guards parade, Whitehall. All other celebrations were private.
Coincident with his first birthday as king, his majesty issued his first own honors list. It was noteworthy mainly for a graceful tribute to his mother. The king created and conferred upon Queen Mary the title Dame of the Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order, founded by Queen Victoria in 1896.
The king decorated his mother for her personal services to the monarch.

BLOCK COUNTY PLAN TO HEAD RELIEF WORK

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 23.—(UP)—The transfer of direct unemployment relief administration to county supervisors appeared to have encountered an indefinite delay today because supervisors and Gov. Frank F. Merriam disagreed upon SRA supervision.

Supervisors representing all sections of the state refused to accept any plan which called for cooperation with SRA, on the ground the relief administration has been too wasteful in distributing the dole. The supervisors insisted, instead, that the relief administration be supervised by the State Department of Social Welfare.

Governor Merriam, in his proposed to turn relief administration over to the counties, planned to retain a skeleton SRA staff to supervise the distribution of relief funds.

The supervisors, however, agreed with the sentiment of C. E. Grier, San Bernardino, acting president of their association, who said in a telegram that the people of San Bernardino county were "disturbed with the wasteful administration of direct relief by the SRA" and that the board of supervisors "could not consider any plan of integration with the SRA."

After a conference with the governor, T. E. Caldwell, chairman of the State Supervisors Association and head of the committee, issued a statement which said:

"The supervisors have left with the governor a plan which would definitely reduce the administration costs and afford every facility for cooperation. The governor took it under consideration and assured us he would formulate a program that will satisfy the counties."

The supervisors expressed indignation because they discovered that after the special legislative session last month, SRA salaries were increased despite the governor's desire to slash the overhead expense. Under the supervision of the SRA, they said, 22.87 per cent of all funds spent for the dole are spent for purposes other than relief.

Merriam told the supervisors he could not accept the responsibility for providing more relief funds next year, if necessary, because that was a problem of the legislature. He said, however, he would use his influence with the legislature to obtain more money if the $21,500,000 available is not sufficient to handle the dole during the 1936-37 fiscal year.

Further negotiations for shifting relief administration to the counties must come from the governor, the supervisors said.

Under Merriam's plan, the state would continue to finance the dole, but counties, through their boards of supervisors, would administer it under supervision of the SRA.

Sterilized Girl Is Paid $150,000

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(UP)—Russell P. Tyler, attorney for Ann Cooper Hewitt, 21-year-old sterilized heiress, disclosed today Miss Hewitt has been paid $150,000 in an out of court settlement from the company which bonded her mother, Mrs. Mayron Cooper Hewitt.

The settlement, Tyler said, was made by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company of Maryland which had bonded Mrs. Hewitt for $200,000 as guardian of her daughter's interest in the $10,000,000 estate of the late Peter Cooper Hewitt.

RECONSIDER MINIMUM WAGE
WASHINGTON, June 23.—(UP)—The supreme court today was asked to reconsider the decision by which it held unconstitutional the New York minimum wage law and precipitated the question of constitutional amendment at the conventions of the major parties.

ACCUSE PACKERS
SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(UP)—Alfred Aram, general counsel for the Farmers' Union of California, announced today he had telegraphed Attorney General Cummings charging that California packers and cannery men had just announced "identical and simultaneous" prices for the state's apricot crop in violation of federal anti-trust statutes.

SCHOTTLAND RESIGNS
SACRAMENTO, June 23.—(UP)—Charles I. Schottland, state relief administrator, will resign his position within the next several weeks to accept the directorship of the Federated Jewish Charities of Los Angeles county, according to reliable reports at the capitol today.

PRESAGE CIVIL WAR
CANTON, June 23.—(UP)—Intense military activity today presaged what promises to be the most serious civil warfare in republican China's long history of internal strife. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Central government forces, moving to the attack of Kwangsi province, are mobilized by General Li Tsung-Jen and Pei Tsung-hsi, massed 30 tanks and 80 airplanes near the borders of Kwangsi.

tion against the supervisors in Justice Morrison's court, through Attorneys Thomas Kuchel and Leo J. Fris, and Justice Morrison has had the defense demurrer under advisement for several days.

Legal circles today viewed Justice Morrison's ruling on the demurrer as virtually final in the case, so far as his court is concerned. It being felt that the Farquhar complaint probably could not be amended to eliminate the objection sustained by the court.

Whether the case will be carried up to superior court on an appeal by the Farquhar attorneys, has not been decided.

AGED RESIDENT OF SANTA ANA CALLED

Funeral services for Mrs. C. Ellis Hollingsworth, 72, of 1217 West First street, Santa Ana, who passed away at Orange County hospital, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from Winbigler's mortuary. Interment will be in Rosehill cemetery, Whittier.

Mrs. Hollingsworth is survived by her husband, Sylvester Hollingsworth; three brothers, M. C. Wilson, Santa Ana, Sylvester H. Wilson of Burbank, Calif. and Albert H. Wilson of Burbank, Calif.

Mrs. Hollingsworth's death was caused by an infection resulting from a head injury sustained when she fell in her home a week ago.

Warden James Johnston of the Pacific Coast Penitentiary reported the attack occurred between 9:30 and 9:45 a. m. (P.S.T.)

"Capone was stabbed by another prisoner in the room where they were working," Warden Johnston said.

"Capone was stabbed in the back by a pair of scissors. He turned around and knocked his assailant down. The guard rushed over and that ended the affair."

"Capone was looked over by the doctors and his wound dressed. 'It doesn't look serious.'"

OREGON TRAIL IS SUBJECT OF ROTARY CLUB

Members of the Santa Ana Rotary club today heard one of their own number, the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, in an historical survey of the Old Oregon Trail. The meeting was held at the Green Cat cafe with Harry Hansen as program chairman.

This year Oregon is celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Whitman-Spaulding expedition into Oregon. Recently Rev. McFarland followed the famous trail blazed by these two and members of a later expedition led by Whitman.

The setting of Oregon commenced when Dr. Marcus Whitman and his wife, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spaulding crossed the Great Divide and established a mission near what is now Walla Walla. Later Whitman returned to Washington and persuaded 1000 pioneers to make the trip back with him into the Oregon territory. Several years after the territory had been settled, Whitman, his wife and 12 others were massacred by Indians.

Even today, Rev. McFarland said, there is still pioneering work being done. He cited as an example the development and construction of Boulder dam.

Speaker of the House Ted Craig was introduced today, and expressed the opinion that the recent threat to establish a prison in Orange county has resulted in a bringing together of the residents of the community. They are more united today than they have been in years, he said.

A tabloid size newspaper selling for five cents and describing itself as "Social Justice, Father Coughlin's Weekly" was circulated in the rear of the hall as Farley spoke. It more a picture of the famous Detroit priest and in huge, page one type proclaimed:

"Coughlin's challenge. Radio blast, F.D.R., G.O.P. New party upset '36 campaign. Lemku candidate for president."

Farley concluded at 2 p. m. with a cheer for F.D.R.

He brought on another hilarious demonstration with the name "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

South Dakota's standard was first in the aisle.

A brigade of conservative Democrats, led by the party's 1928 nominee, Alfred E. Smith, quick-stepped out of the fold to the snappy beat of the convention gavel. Another former standard bearer, John W. Davis, was significantly absent. Bolters and walkers of the protesting Democrats may be counted up and down the east coast and far into the west.

Party re-alignment shifted political poles as the crowd gathered. Smith and four co-spokesmen for conservative Democratic thought have bolted. One, former Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, is willing to speak for the Republican Landon-Knox ticket in New England. Another, former Sen. James A. Reed, of Missouri, will make speeches against the New Deal during the campaign. All are commended against their party this year if President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner are named again. The men from whom Mr. Roosevelt snatched a nomination four years ago are arrayed against him today.

Talmadge On Loose
Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia is on the political loose. He announced he had followed Smith out of the party but would not vote for a Republican next fall. Georgia New Dealers yesterday voted Talmadge out of his job as Democratic national committee man.

On the opposite political wing, radicals are beckoned to back the New Deal.

Twenty thousand persons are swarming into this hall. Delegates will be asked to abrogate the two-thirds rule which has governed Democratic presidential nominations for 100 years. The administration, backed by the north and west, would substitute a simple majority and the south scarcely can prevent it. The two-thirds rule enabled the solid south or other minority coalitions to exercise a veto in presidential nominations.

The assembling Democrats are confident but a shade less certain than a week ago, that the 1936 campaign will be a breeze. A draft movement is pointing toward vote-getter Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York who has announced his refusal to run again in President Roosevelt's home state but who has sided with the New Deal against conservatives who would oust Mr. Roosevelt and reform the party along right wing lines.

Many fascinating and beautiful spots lie along and near these routes: Carlsbad Caverns, Mexican border towns, the rugged Apache Trail country, Texas Caves, and many more. The Alamo, romantic New Orleans, Great Salt Lake, Lake Tahoe, Monterey Bay, Yosemite, San Francisco and her giant bay bridges, American River Canyon, Mt. Shasta, Portland, Crater Lake, Seattle, Vancouver... to name just a few. A popular side trip is to Mexico City (air-conditioned Pullmans all the way) for only $50 extra rail fare.

On June 1, rates for single occupancy of compartments and drawing rooms were substantially reduced to all points in the United States.

On the same date, the regular Pullman surcharge was eliminated by all eastern railroads (a step taken by Southern Pacific in 1935). This cuts sleeping car charges one-third, east of the Mississippi.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, June 24.—Captain Anthony Eden certainly started a rumormongering in the commons, when he told them that Britain was going to drop the sanctions against Mussolini.... Evidently, this time Anthony came, not to bury the modern Caesar, but to praise him.

From now on, the League of Nations will be listed among the old ruins of Europe.

Seems to me that those involved should have used a little more thought before they decided to kill the league.... Trying to dispose of a corpse is what usually causes the downfall of the perpetrator.

Mr. Eden said that the failure of the sanctions was due to "the miscalculation by military opinion.... Oh well, everybody makes mistakes! That's why they build tombs for unknown soldiers." (Copyright, 1936, McNaught Syn., Inc.)

derivative, unmusical snort from the organ.

First mention of President Roosevelt came at 1:35 p. m. Delegates came out of their chairs shouting and waving hats. It was a brief demonstration, less than 60 seconds.

"Give them hell, Jim," and "attaboy" greeted Farley's references to the Republican presidential platform as a vague instrument of promises.

Sea of Smiles

The delegate ensemble was a sea of smiling faces as Farley slipped into the Republicans and predicted New Deal victory in November.

Texas led off with a hat waving demonstration for Vice President Garner when Farley paid him tribute for proving that the office he holds "is neither an ornament nor a sinecure."

Farley set off another demonstration when he said: "For three years ours has been a people's government. It is our job to keep it a people's government."

The band, always willing to oblige, struck up "Hall, Hall The Gans' All Here." The organ joined and heralded Farley's efforts for silence until he nonchalantly resumed his speech despite the music.

A tabloid size newspaper selling for five cents and describing itself as "Social Justice, Father Coughlin's Weekly" was circulated in the rear of the hall as Farley spoke. It more a picture of the famous Detroit priest and in huge, page one type proclaimed:

The men from whom Mr. Roosevelt snatched a nomination four years ago are arrayed against him today.

Talmadge On Loose
Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia is on the political loose. He announced he had followed Smith out of the party but would not vote for a Republican next fall. Georgia New Dealers yesterday voted Talmadge out of his job as Democratic national committee man.

On the opposite political wing, radicals are beckoned to back the New Deal.

Twenty thousand persons are swarming into this hall. Delegates will be asked to abrogate the two-thirds rule which has governed Democratic presidential nominations for 100 years. The administration, backed by the north and west, would substitute a simple majority and the south scarcely can prevent it. The two-thirds rule enabled the solid south or other minority coalitions to exercise a veto in presidential nominations.

The assembling Democrats are confident but a shade less certain than a week ago, that the 1936 campaign will be a breeze. A draft movement is pointing toward vote-getter Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York who has announced his refusal to run again in President Roosevelt's home state but who has sided with the New Deal against conservatives who would oust Mr. Roosevelt and reform the party along right wing lines.

Many fascinating and beautiful spots lie along and near these routes: Carlsbad Caverns, Mexican border towns, the rugged Apache Trail country, Texas Caves, and many more. The Alamo, romantic New Orleans, Great Salt Lake, Lake Tahoe, Monterey Bay, Yosemite, San Francisco and her giant bay bridges, American River Canyon, Mt. Shasta, Portland, Crater Lake, Seattle, Vancouver... to name just a few. A popular side trip is to Mexico City (air-conditioned Pullmans all the way) for only $50 extra rail fare.

On June 1, rates for single occupancy of compartments and drawing rooms were substantially reduced to all points in the United States.

On the same date, the regular Pullman surcharge was eliminated by all eastern railroads (a step taken by Southern Pacific in 1935). This cuts sleeping car charges one-third, east of the Mississippi.

NEW LOW COST MEALS
Still unmatched on any railroad are our famous "Meals Select" at 60c to $1.25. With true SP service and quality, complete breakfasts, luncheons and dinners are now offered on the Apache at 25c, 30c, 35c. A la carte also.

we continue the New Deal which has rescued our country from disaster and despair or shall the government be turned back to the old dealers who wrecked it?"

He blamed the Republicans for the depression—charged that "huge financial interests" had been the backbone of their recent national administrations. These interests, as soon as "they had been rescued from the depths of loss and again began to make money" by President Roosevelt's actions in the crisis of 1933, "exercised their pressure, furnished the funds, and engaged in a crusade of vituperation and detraction in an effort to destroy the faith of the people in the president."

Want Old System
"He had brought them out of their desperate state when they were helpless to do it themselves," Farley continued. "But he was insisting that fortune for the few and poverty for the many did not spell prosperity, and they, feeling themselves threatened with deprivation of the unearned and unearned favors and privileges they had so long, inaugurated the movement for a return to the old system of every thing for them and nothing for the plain people."

The Republican platform, he said, was the result of "the impossible task of reconciling the standard views of the powers behind the minority party with their anguished necessity of making a pretense of liberalism."

Gov. Alf M. Landon, he continued, won the nomination for the same reason. He was the candidate "whom they could present as conservative enough to meet the specifications of the Dupont Liberty leaguers in the east, while appearing fiercely liberal in the west."

"The continuance of the New Deal is the issue," Farley said. "The question before the American people is clear and cannot be disguised. That question is: Shall we continue the New Deal which has rescued our country from disaster and despair or shall the government turn back to the old dealers who wrecked it?"

"The consequences of the coming election are vital to the future of this nation. Because of their gravity no one of us dares do less than his utmost toward swelling the majority that will testify to the national desire that the process of recovery, initiated and carried on by Franklin D. Roosevelt, shall not be interrupted. That verdict must be so overwhelming, so conclusive, so compelling that nobody can doubt that the country is united in its determination that there shall be no backward step in our progress."

"Our party will remain in power so long as its ideals and purposes do not deviate from the straight path of public service."

Fortunate Party
"We are a fortunate party: first in the high patriotism and calibre of our president; second in that we are on the right side both morally and economically."

"As soon as the huge financial interests that have been the backbone of every Republican administration of recent years had been rescued from the depths of loss and again began to make money, they exerted their pressure, furnished the funds, and engaged in a crusade of vituperation and detraction in an effort to destroy the faith of the people in the president."

"He had brought them out of their desperate state when they were helpless to do it for themselves. But he was insisting that fortune for the few and poverty for the many did not spell prosperity, and they, feeling themselves threatened with the deprivation of the unearned and unearned favors and privileges they had enjoyed so long, inaugurated the movement for a return to the old system of every thing for them and nothing for the plain people."

Antagonistic Impression
"Anybody unfamiliar with American politics would have gathered from these outcries that our hard-working, systematic, public-serving president was sitting in the White House with a war helmet on his head, booted and spurred, and ready to lead a bayonet charge on congress if they hesitated in carrying out his despotic orders."

"Under these conditions, we naturally had to get busy."

"Perhaps I ought to mention in this connection another agency that has contributed much to the jubilation we have in regard to the outcome of the election in November."

"Do I need to say that I refer specifically to the Republican convention in Cleveland?"

"Our friends, the enemy, had an opportunity to be sincere."

"If they had any regard for consistency, they would have named Herbert Hoover, who represents the classical attitude of their party, and then we would have had a direct and frank contest before the American people of the New Deal and the old deal. They passed him up despite his impassioned denigrating speech, which naturally failed. For you cannot stampede an elephant securely chained to the picket posts of evasion and straddling."

Could Name Borah
"They could have named Senator Borah but he was earmarked with the stigma of liberalism. So they had to find a candidate they could present as conservative enough to meet the specifications of the Dupont Liberty leaguers in the east, while appearing fiercely liberal in the west."

"Our governmental system directs the search for qualifications for the vice president as for the president for obvious reasons. Our own beloved vice president has shown that the office is neither an ornament nor a sinecure. John N. Garner's long experience in the public service has been of inestimable value during the grave period of restoration. The vice president presides over the United States senate. He knows what the doings of that body mean and his ripened judgment is available when the senate divides and his vote determines the final result. * * *

"Good government is the best politics. That was true when Jefferson founded our party, and the formula has not changed. Circumstances and conditions change. The immortal principles that have made us the freest, most secure people in the world remain changeless. Selfish interests may usurp authority for a time, but always there arises a figure clear-eyed enough to see the peril, wise enough to grasp the people's desires, and brave enough to head the way through the barriers of influence and illicit power, and set us again on the right path."

"For three years ours has been a people's government. It is our job to keep it a people's government. * * *

"Behind the Republican ticket is the crew of the Du Pont Liberty league and their allies, which have so far financed every underdog agency that has disgraced American politics with their appeals to race prejudice, religious intolerance, and personalities so gross that they had to be repudiated even by the regular organization. They will continue to disown these snaky assaults—and to seek to profit by them."

"But the leaguers will never gain the prize. The real New Deal, sane and orderly—not the wild, visionary, socialistic or communistic creation of its enemies' imagination—will sail on serenely, to the goal of complete recovery; and at its helm that calm, capable and courageous commander, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

calm was just as effective as a prayer for snow on the Fourth of July. Every time the monkey started for a particular section of the church, the members of the congregation, gathered there, immediately left for more favorable fields. One unfortunate, J. B. Johnson, was unable to avoid the monkey, and was bitten on the hand when the animal leaped on his back.

Finally the cause of the disturbance was cornered in the choir room, and some of the male members of the congregation joined him in an effort to keep him quiet. The police department was called, and Chief Gus Barnes tried to subdue the monkey with tear gas. Three bombs were loosed in the small room with no effect on the monkey. He just pounded on the floor with his fists, picked up a few books and threw them about the room.

Arch Hawkins, uncle of the boy who owned the monkey, was called and came to the rescue with a 410 gauge shot gun. One well directed shot brought to an end the monkey's escapade.

As a result of the disturbance, Rev. Brigham found it necessary to conclude the services.

HY-LO Automatic Regulator for Orchard Heaters

SEE DEMONSTRATION
Wednesday Night, June 24, 7:30 p. m., at Tustin Hill Citrus Assn., Tustin, Cal.

Makes any orchard heater "a one-man heater." With this device the heater is lighted by merely throwing back the hinged regulator plate and applying the torch in the regular way. No adjustment or regulation is necessary at this time. After the oil in the heater has reached a definite temperature the automatic regulator gradually begins to close so that within 4 to 6 minutes (depending upon the type of heater) the desired fire is reached and maintained.

Advantages:
No follow-up man is necessary.
Cuts lighting labor costs in half and eliminates worries of under-supply of labor. Eliminates excessive depreciation of stock. Prevents scorching of trees. Prevents excessive burning of oil both in lighting and due to irregular adjustment. Permits more accurate and even regulation of heater. Prevents smudging of fruit by eliminating excessive high fires on lighting. Eliminates freezing of regulator. Gives good boost in temperature without excessively high fires. Permits fast lighting with a minimum of help. Experienced labor not necessary.

HIGHWAY WORK WOULD INCLUDE NEW BRIDGES

in widening, resurfacing and eliminating a jog at Placentia avenue. In addition to the suggested Anaheim-Olive improvement, work planned includes the following jobs:

Ortega highway, from San Juan Capistrano easterly for 1.6 miles, realignment and paving to 20 feet, $30,000; Manchester avenue, from Miraflores subdivision on Highway 101 to the Orange county line, addition of another lane to supplement the third strip of concrete already planned to be laid this year, 7.65 miles, $114,750, including extension of a few culverts;

Grading and surfacing from Yorba Linda to its Santa Ana canyon terminus, Imperial highway, $200,000; Orange-Olive road, realignment to eliminate two jogs at Taft avenue, 3 miles, to follow the Santa Fe railroad right-of-way, new culverts and shoulders, $75,000; Laguna canyon road, from the Irvine overhead crossing southerly two and one-half miles, resurfacing and shoulders, $45,000; South Main extension from Corona Del Mar northward 6.4 miles to Newport boulevard, paving to a 30-foot width, $200,000; to complete the excavation work now being done by Works Progress administration crews, and the Garden Grove boulevard work, which calls for repaving of 3.9 miles and the bridge construction.

der Wagner's chairmanship shortly after the opening session of the convention.

Its immediate task was consideration of the demands of New Deal figures dissatisfied with the tentative platform draft.

These administration men, including Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, sought revisions which would make a greater appeal to the "left wing" voters and thus offset the effects of the Lemke third party movement.

Bothersome Planks
Farm relief, monopoly and constitutional amendment proposals appeared to be the most bothersome for the platform builders and participation of George in the work of the committee promised more troubles.

The hard-hitting Georgia senator has been relentless in his criticism of the New Deal, especially in regard to the congressional battle over corporation taxes. He used the senate floor as a sounding board shortly before adjournment to demand that the administration turn back from what he called socialistic experimentation.

If Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, also is persuaded to take part in the platform discussion, another potent voice will be added to the controversy over 1936 campaign policy. Glass had declined to be a member, but some friends believed he might be persuaded to be a member, but some friends believed he might be persuaded to reconsider in view of the weight of his opinions on currency.

Glass Declines
Later Glass said, however, that he had decided definitely against serving on the resolutions committee. Gov. George C. Peery will represent Virginia on the committee.

"Peery will be just as much opposed as Glass to any unsound platform suggestions," one of his colleagues said.

Wagner said open hearings probably would be tomorrow.

The activity of Lehman in the platform work was considered especially significant due to his interest in minimum hours and wages. The New York governor talked the situation over with Wagner in a hurried hotel room conference and they went together to the convention hall for the opening session. Both declined to comment other than to indicate that they expected to have the plank completed some time today.

Interest centered on whether Lehman's suggestions would result in a declaration for a constitutional amendment, which had been considered unlikely in view of recent statements by President Roosevelt and other administration figures that the New Deal should seek its hours-wages objectives within the constitution.

CLAIMS MEXICANS DISLIKE GAMBLING

FRESNO, Cal., June 23.—(UP)—L. D. Mahon, judge of the consulate court between the United States and Mexico, and national president of the League of Western Writers, now holding their national convention here, told the United Press today that "the people of Mexico don't want gambling returned to the republic."

The recent return of gambling to Mexico was largely due to pressure exerted by powerful American interests desirous of the large profits of such resorts at Acapulco and Tia Juana, he said.

EARLY MORNING THUNDER, RAIN VISIT COUNTY

Santa Ana had a little "unusual" weather this morning, in the form of a freak storm which sprinkled warm showers over the county to the accompaniment of resounding thunderclaps.
Here in Santa Ana a total of .015 inches of rain, the smallest amount ever measured, fell in two separate showers, one around 5 a. m. and the other around 8 a. m. This makes the total rainfall for this season 3.78 inches in Santa Ana, as compared with 17.73 inches for all of last year's rainy season, which closed on July 1. Between this date and July 1 last year no rain fell, the last shower occurring on April 29.
Rainfall for this year in Orange county is considerably below the average of 12.60 inches per year.
The showers of this morning were reported generally over the county.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

In every race yet discovered the hope has survived for the continuance of life beyond the grave. This is one of the surest vindications that this hope will be realized. It is inconceivable that what all men everywhere have craved and dared to anticipate is a mirage devoid of substance.
Your own desire and faith are substantiated by this universal conviction. You may go bravely forth with the confident expectation that death changes no one. Your dearest one lives and loves and knows.

DOOLEY—June 22, 1936, at St. Joseph's hospital, Estelle Jeanette Dooley, aged 47 years. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Hanley of Phoenix, Ariz., and one brother, Norman Dill of Denver, Colorado. Funeral services will be held in Melrose Abbey Chapel at 2 p. m. Wednesday afternoon, June 24, with Rev. Blanchard officiating. Entombment will follow in Melrose Abbey. Arrangements in charge of Brown and Wagner Funeral Home, 116 West Seventeenth street.

CURTICE—June 22, 1936, at her home, 1147 West Eighth street, Hattie B. Curtice, aged 76 years. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lena Leota Allen, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Nina Grace Bayless, of Los Angeles; one brother, Hulbert Crawford, of Compton. Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Brown and Wagner Funeral Home, 116 West Seventeenth street, under the auspices of the Unity Society. Interment in Fairhaven cemetery.

HOLLINGSWORTH—Mrs. C. Ella Hollingsworth, aged 79 years, of 1217 West First street, passed away June 23. She is survived by her husband, Sylvester J. Hollingsworth, of Santa Ana and three brothers, M. C. Wilson, of West First street; Sylvester F. Wilson, of Wilks, Mont.; and Albert F. Wilson, of Burbank, Calif. Funeral services will be held from the Winbigler Mortuary chapel, 609 North Main street, Thursday, June 25, at 2 p. m. Interment in Rose Hill cemetery at Whittier.

BREAKFAST CLUB IS PLANNING PROGRAM FOR NEXT MEETING

Officers of the Santa Ana Breakfast club expect to score another big hit with members of the club when the weekly program is presented in James' cafe next Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced today.
Because of the outstanding nature of the programs which have been presented since reorganization of the club and election of new officers, the attendance at meetings has averaged higher than for many months.
All of the programs are strictly entertaining, rather than educational, and this week President Edward W. Cochems has arranged another fine program, it was announced.
By special request, George Foy and his six-piece orchestra will be presented in musical and vocal numbers. Members of the orchestra are Elmer Runsey, Howard Runsey, Clarence Davis, Bill Lloyd and Fred Miller. There will be several surprise numbers on the program, including a popular dancer, it was announced.
All members of the club were urged this week by President Cochems to bring guests with them.

LIGHTNING BRINGS DEATH TO WORKER

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—(UP)—Lightning bolts caused one death and burned out power lines today as sudden "sun showers" splashed over Southern California, helping to halt three forest fires.
Antonio Juarez, 36, father of five children, was killed by a bolt striking his head and traveling to ground through a shovel he was holding in an irrigation ditch at Los Alamitos.
Bolt also disabled Southern California Edison company power lines supplying two pumping stations in the district.
County Forester Spence Turner said three fires burning in the Mojave district and the Angeles forest had been cured.

INQUESTS HELD IN TWO DEATHS AT FULLERTON

Coroner Earl Abbel and Deputy Bert Castex will conduct inquests this afternoon at McAlay and Suters funeral chapel, Fullerton, for Sera Lomeli, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Feliciano Lomeli, Buena Park, and for Francisco Gonzales, 25, of Corona, both traffic accident victims.
The Lomeli inquest will be held at 2 p. m. The Gonzales inquest at 3 p. m. Walking alone, Whitaker street, near Buena Park, Sunday evening, the little girl was struck down by a car operated by Rudolph H. Meyer, 69, Route 1, Box 17, Buena Park, who is held at county jail on a charge of negligent homicide, two doctors reported. Sera was killed instantly.
Gonzales died at county hospital following an accident at Piacenta avenue and Linda boulevard June 15, when a car operated by Adam Sepulveda, Gonzales' companion, turned over. Sepulveda also was held on a charge of negligent homicide. Sepulveda and three other companions were injured.
Private funeral services for the Lomeli girl will be conducted tomorrow, it was announced, with interment to follow at Olive View cemetery. Services probably will be conducted from the McAlay and Suters chapel, beginning at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

County Resident For Half Century Called by Death

Rites for Mrs. Hattie B. Curtice, 76, who died at her home, 1147 West Eighth street, Santa Ana, yesterday, will be held in the Brown and Wagner mortuary tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. under the auspices of unity society. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.
Mrs. Curtice had been a resident of Orange county for the past 52 years. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lena Leota Allen, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Nina Grace Bayless of Los Angeles, and one brother, Hulbert Crawford of Compton.

The first directory of London had a royal origin, being started by Charles I, who wanted a list of citizens who could loan him money.

EIGHTY ENROLLED IN J. C. SUMMER SESSIONS MONDAY

With an enrollment to 80 to date, the annual summer school of the Santa Ana junior college began sessions yesterday. Tomorrow is the last day for registration, it was announced today.
H. O. Russell, dean of the summer school, estimated that of those enrolled are from inland cities, including Pasadena, San Bernardino and Claremont.
Dean Russell said that enrollment is nearly 15 per cent greater this year than last year, and about the same as two years ago. Enrollment for high school courses has increased greatly, while enrollment in college courses has declined considerably. He attributed the decline to the increase in the number of jobs obtained for local students by the junior college.
Instructors holding classes include Miss Lella B. Watson, G. B. Holmes, H. W. Goodwin, Miss Frances Egge, L. L. Beeman, Edward M. Nealley, Thomas H. Glenn, Miss Ella May Conkle and Mr. Russell.
Dean Russell predicted that 10 students would enroll before the deadline tomorrow night. Those desiring to register should do so at once at college hall, Tenth and Main streets, he said.

DOOLEY SERVICES TO BE WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Estelle Jeanette Dooley, 47, of 507 West Sixth street, Santa Ana, who passed away at St. Joseph hospital yesterday, will be held from the Brown and Wagner mortuary tomorrow at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Melrose Abbey.

Children playing with matches were blamed for starting a fire in the garage at the home of W. H. McConnell, 1029 North Flower street, shortly after noon today. Spreading to a chicken house, destroying the garage, the fire did an estimated damage of $75 to $100. The property belonged to H. A. Todd, of Palo Alto. The fire department property.

HENDERSON IS GIVEN RAISE BY SCHOOL BOARD

Salary increases were granted by the board of education last night to City School Superintendent Frank A. Henderson and School Auditor Harold Yost, in line with the general school salary advances for next term.
Henderson, whose salary last term ranged from $5500 to $5950, will receive $6250 next term and thereafter under a new contract tendered him last February when he was reelected head of the city school system.
Henderson has never received the amount called for in his original four-year contract, which started at $6000, with $6250 the second year, and $6500 for the third and fourth years.
Auditor Yost, who received $150 per month at the end of last term, will receive $185 per month next year.
The salary of Secretary George Newcom for next term has not yet been adjusted. He drew $2700 last term.

DOLLAR DAY TO BE HELD HERE ON THURSDAY

Offering discriminating shoppers most unusual opportunities to save money on many classes of merchandise, merchants of Santa Ana will stage a special Dollar Day event here Thursday, it was announced today.
Plans for the event were arranged through the retail division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, headed by Iva Stein.
Special offers on seasonal goods will be made through the advertising columns of The Register tomorrow. Shoppers were urged to check these values before making Dollar Day purchases.
The Dollar Day event Thursday will be participated in by leading merchants of the city, who will offer unusual bargains for the one-day sale.
It is anticipated that throngs of shoppers will come to Santa Ana from many points in the Santa Ana trade area, which embraces practically the entire county, to take advantage of the excellent buys arranged by local merchants.
Vancouver, B. C., this year is commemorating the 50th year of its steady growth.

WPA GIRLS PLAN SOFT BALL LEAGUE

As a part of the summer recreation program in Santa Ana which is being sponsored by the WPA, a girls' soft ball league is being organized for those girls between the ages of 12 and 16 inclusively. All girls signed up are asked to be present at the first meeting of the group Monday, June 29, at 4 p. m. at the Municipal Bowl. Mrs. Marian H. Clarke, WPA assistant supervisor, is in charge of the league and will be assisted by Miss Wilma Potter, WPA recreation leader.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

BY PAUL MALLON
(Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon)

PLEASURE
PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The spirit of this Democratic national convention is not hard to find. The nerve-racking police siren, which escorts Postmaster General Farley up and down Broad street, shrieks it.

What it says is that this is to be a New Deal national fair, a mixture of some carefully prepared political business and a lot of good convention fun. All the third party threats and the unasked counsel of Al Smith's big five will not be permitted to interfere with it.

BUSINESS
The tone which is being maintained by the early arriving leaders may be found in the official program of business for Monday. Four events are listed: 10:30 A. M.—Democratic national committee meets to handle a couple of insignificant delegate contests.

8:30 P. M.—Phillips versus St. Louis National League.
6:30 P. M.—Mayor's dinner to visiting Democratic governors.
9 P. M.—Prize fight, Leroy Harnes vs. Al Ettore.

There is no other business on schedule for Monday.

RESPONSE
Postmaster General Farley's running keynote in press conferences have conveyed more or less the same idea. He arose Sunday and was confronted again with headlines about a congressman named Lemke whose first name was not widely recalled, making what Father Coughlin called "a wide appeal to 25,000,000 voters" as a third party spokesman. Mr. Farley immediately announced he wanted to see the pirates play in the afternoon. Apparently his main concern was whether that fellow Suhr really deserves to be hitting 357.

Newsmen rushed him later for comment on the telegram from Al Smith et al. counseling the convention to turn away from

NEW GLY-CAS AT McCOY DRUG CO.
GREATEST EVER

Hundreds of Santa Ana Residents Laud Gly-Cas as Being Without an Equal; Mrs. Cashdollar Given New Health.

Possibly never before has any medicine received such widespread and sincere praise as is now being accorded this new herbal remedy, Gly-Cas. All over

MRS. C. A. CASHDOLLAR

Santa Ana and this entire section hundreds now know from actual experience that Gly-Cas is no more like ordinary medicines than day is like night.

Read what Mrs. C. A. Cashdollar, 1221 East St. Andrew Ave., Santa Ana, highly respected lady of this city, who has lived here for the past fifteen years, said recently in lauding this new remedy to the McCoy Drug Co., 106 West Fourth Street, this city:

"I did not know there was such a medicine discovered as this new Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Cashdollar. "For ten years I had been habitually constipated, my entire system filled with poisons and my stomach was badly affected. Foods I ate would sour, bloated after every meal and the attacks of indigestion that would come on me were unbearable. I would become so short of breath I would nearly smother and often have had to sit up in bed to be able to breathe at all. My kidneys gave me trouble, too, and dizzy spells were entirely too frequent. It was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. It seemed as my entire system seemed to be gradually wearing out. I should have been in bed many days but I kept going even if it was with a great effort. Medicine of every known kind failed to my case it seemed and I was dreadfully discouraged until I was finally persuaded to try Gly-Cas. It was entirely different from anything I had ever taken before. It gave me results."

"If it had not been for Gly-Cas I would yet be suffering terribly," continued Mrs. Cashdollar. "By the time I had taken my first few doses I knew I had found the one REAL medicine of them all. Those poisons were quickly eliminated and in a most natural way. My stomach and bowels are now regulated and function properly. I am rapidly regaining my strength and am again able to do my work with ease. My appetite is fast returning, nerves are quieted, eat and sleep good and really enjoy the best health I have had in many years. Gly-Cas has certainly proven its merit beyond all doubt and I feel it my duty to tell others about such a remarkable remedy so they, too, may regain their health as I have mine."

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy Drug Co., 106 West Fourth Street, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

President Roosevelt and indicating they would vote Republican if it did not. Mr. Farley's only reply was that he had not read the telegram. He got into his car and the wide open siren of his escort gave the only echo of additional response.

CONFIDENCE
On the inside, the tone does not seem to be much different. The real inside of the convention, of course, is at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, Washington. But among the leaders who have so far assembled, and among the platform thinkers who spent the weekend in Atlantic City, in and out of the surf, there was no private tendency to take matters too seriously.

What these boys said in their well ventilated rooms was that they expected the blast from the Smith crowd to be stronger than it was. They wonder if that's all. They thumbed down the list of signers to estimate the political following of each. They concluded that the only one who might sway an appreciable number of votes was Al himself, and they had already counted on him as lost anyway. His following is largely in New England, where their hopes are not high.

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

COMING
Squabbles at Roosevelt Cabinet meetings have become so sharp and numerous that members dread the hour for assembly in the President's circular office. They're as happy as children let out of school when they get word that "the Cabinet won't meet today."

Chief Tease seems to be Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor. Her colleagues say that she talks too much, and insists upon expressing herself on problems which don't fall in her field. Secretary Ickes can't conceal his annoyance over fellow-members' views. Once he muttered to Mr. Farley "You and I could run this alone." Three factions bob up whenever any moot question is raised—a doggedly faithful Rooseveltian like Morgenthau and Farley; New Dealers like Ickes and Wallace; old-fashioned Democrats like Hull and Cummings. There is no common viewpoint or philosophy.

A radical reshuffling will result if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected. Insiders say the only ones to survive will be Messrs. Wallace and Morgenthau and perhaps Ickes. But they'll fight it out on practical political lines until after November.

LONELY—The American Liberty League—by request will save the nation by confining its political activity to Congressional contests. It has barrels of money, big names and tons of literature—but no presidential place to go.

The Leaguers originally intended to leap into the presidential campaign, making its decision after it had scanned the nominees and the platforms. But it has been so viciously anti-New Deal from the start that this program fooled nobody—not even President Jouett Shouse. Its activities have provoked such ridicule that Republican politicians duck when it is mentioned. The last thing they want is the League's endorsement.

The League's organizers are beginning to sense that they are political pariahs. The plan to have a man on the ground at Cleveland was dropped for fear it might hurt the G. O. P. "Jimmie" Wade lost all chance of a vice presidential nomination because of his charter membership. Now the word has been passed along the grapevine that the Shouses will please stay away from London's door.

SOURING
Even though the best reporters try to report presidential campaigns with journalistic objectivity, their attitude toward the candidates often plays a sub-conscious part in the results. They cannot completely conceal their feelings, and it's a force every President with any publicity sense recognizes.

Washington newspapermen detested Herbert Hoover in 1932, and their stories revealed their antipathy. They were charmed by Franklin Roosevelt's fresh personality, and he got whatever "break" can be packed into cold type. But this year it's different. Every Washington correspondent who has met Alf Landon—and that includes writers for liberal and conservative newspapers—likes him personally. To admire his public record is the next step.

The Kansas' political-journalistic backers realize the value of newspaper friendship for their man. Editors Roberts, White, Allen, Stauffer, Harris—newspaper men themselves—are making friends of every journeyman reporter who strolls into Topeka. They are given interviews, photographs, lunches with the Republican nominee. That accounts for the tremendous buildup he has had—and will have—in newspapers and magazines. And this clever courting of the press comes at a time when even White House reporters are souring on FDR.

The mysterious prehistoric temple on Salisbury Plain, England, known as Stonehenge, was erected by men of the Bronze Age. The great slabs of stone, each weighing tons, were lugged into place by men alone.

TWO TEACHERS ARE ELEVATED TO PRINCIPALS

Elevation of two Santa Ana teachers to principalships was decided by the board of education last night when Miss Johanna Eilers, teacher at Wilson school, was promoted to be principal of Lincoln school, and Mrs. Marjorie Dudley, of Lowell school, was made principal of Franklin school.

Superintendent Frank A. Henderson recommended the advancements for the two teachers, as the result of their showing in an examination of a group of prospects. Both will replace veteran principals who are retiring from the school system. Miss Eilers will succeed Miss Linda Paul at Lincoln school. Mrs. Dudley replaces Miss Lottie Sweet, who recently resigned from Franklin school.

The resignations of Miss Paul and five other teachers were accepted by the board last night. Miss Paul has served 20 years in Santa Ana schools. Retiring is also Alma Steward, of Lincoln, after 23 years of service in the local schools; and Sadie McConaughy, of Franklin who has taught here 22 years. Special letters of appreciation were ordered sent these teachers.

Eloise Owens, who has taught two years at Hoover, resigned to become a bride. Alvin Rebin, assistant coach at Junior college, yielded his post here to accept a coaching position at Huntington Beach high school.

Miss Rose Ethel Lesh was re-elected last night as manager of the Santa Ana school cafeteria, at her present salary of $100 per month. Two other teaching posts were filled. George E. Hoedinghaus, graduate of U.S.C. was elected instructor of English and Journalism at high school, Robert Clarke, who was recently elected to the post, having accepted a place at Taft Junior college instead.

Joseph J. Koegler, 23, former freshman basketball coach at Washington State college, was elected to an assistant coaching post at Santa Ana high school. Thomas C. Dyer, originally selected for the post, withdrew to accept a place at Excelsior High school.

HOLD FAMILY PARTY
FULLERTON, June 23.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Travers held a family reunion at their Newport Beach cottage Sunday. Guests were their daughter, Mrs. Marjorie French, and her son, Barrie, of Fullerton, and their son, William Travers Jr. and family, of Fellows.

MRS. MARY COLE AND J. K. ANDERSON WED

ORANGE, June 23.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McShane at 344 North Lemon street was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday evening when Mrs. Mary E. Cole, of Olive, became the bride of John K. Anderson, of Santa Ana. They were united in marriage by A. C. McShane, Christian evangelist in the Church of Christ.

The bride wore a gown of rose silk with white accessories and she was attended by her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Kennedy. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for a honeymoon which they will spend in the north. On their return they will establish their home at Silver Acres.

The bride was formerly Mrs. Ben J. Cole. Mr. Anderson is connected with the oil industry in Huntington Beach.

ORANGE PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pruitt, of Santa Barbara, are house guests in the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Emma J. Pruitt, South Glassell street.

T. H. Elijah, city clerk, left today for Lewiston, Mont., in company with his father, W. E. Elijah, of Los Angeles and his brother-in-law, E. C. Gise, of Hollywood. They will be gone about 10 days and they will visit the W. E. Elijah ranch at Lewiston.

Miss Levora Ranney, Villa Park, has accepted a position as a social secretary in Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Stan Wilson are enjoying a motor trip through the east. Their little son is staying with relatives in Long Beach during their absence.

A group of Orange residents accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Syvester, Miss Leah Fernald and Mrs. Myrtle Erwin to Wilmington to see them off on a voyage which will take them around the world. The Orange residents were joined by the Rev. and Mrs. L. V. Lucas of San Bernardino, and Miss Edna Batten, of Colton, who are going to the Orient. Mrs. Erwin was accompanied by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Erwin, of Wichita, Kans., who drove from that city with her and who are to spend sometime in California.

Others going to Wilmington included Mrs. Emma J. Pruitt, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Homphill, Miss Jennie Evans, Miss Emma Corson, Miss Harriet Corson, Miss Frances Corson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Edwards, Mrs. Hazel Wallace, Mrs. Noel Newton, Miss Nellie Armstrong, W. C. Armstrong and Mrs. Claudia Boyer.

Mrs. Marie Jansen, of Los Angeles, has been a guest the past week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Daugherty, South Glassell street. She is the aunt of Mrs. Daugherty.

Mrs. Jennie Morse, mother of Ben Morse, is to spend several weeks in Lake Elsinore. Mrs. Rachel Stewart, mother of Mrs. Morse, is visiting her sister in San Bernardino.

HELMS BAKERY PLANS $10,000 PLANT IN S. A.

Plans for the erection of a $10,000 distribution plant at the northeast corner of South Main and Edinger streets were announced today by Ned Kissig, Orange county supervisor for the Helms Bakeries company.

The building will be a one-story affair, of reinforced concrete and will be a substation for the company. Grant and Bruner, Los Angeles, have been commissioned to design and erect the structure.

Kissig said that the bakery will occupy the new building around August 1. Construction work will be started in the near future. The deal whereby the bakery acquired the property is now in escrow. The company now operates 14 trucks in Santa Ana, but the number will be increased to 20 or more when the new substation is built.

Kissig said. The bakery official said that all of the men who work for the company own their own trucks and all are local men.

SCHOLARSHIP TO U. C. L. A. GIVEN PLACENTIA GIRL

PLACENTIA, June 23.—Ellen Rothaermel, daughter of Mrs. Mary Rothaermel, who this June was graduated from Fullerton District Junior College, received one of the three scholarships given by Grand parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, at their annual meeting at Stockton this month.

With Mrs. Kate Hill, president-elect of Grace parlor, and Mrs. Matilda Enfield, Mrs. Nellie Cline, retiring Grand trustee and Mrs. Lena Wagner, Mrs. Rothaermel attended the state meeting.

Three scholarships are granted annually to daughters of Native Daughters of the state, one to U. C. L. A. received this year by Ellen Rothaermel, one to Mills and one to Berkeley.

On the trip to the grand parlor, Mrs. Hill was accompanied by her husband, Frank Hill, and two of their children, Helen and Eddie. Mr. Hill and the children visited Mr. Hill's brother, Miles Hill, at Reno part of the time. Mrs. Wagner also accompanied the Hill family.

Mrs. Rothaermel took with her, Mrs. Cline, Mrs. Enfield and Mrs. Rothaermel's sister, Ellen Rogers, of Long Beach.

BOY SCOUTS WILL SELL FIREWORKS

Scoutmaster F. P. Nickey, in charge of Santa Ana Troop 24, sponsored by the Rotary club, today announced that the Boy Scouts who are members of the troop have set up a stand at the corner of Fourth and Ross streets where fireworks will be offered for sale. Money derived from the sale of fireworks will be used to send boys to Camp Rokili, Boy Scout camp in the San Bernardino mountains. Other stands will be established in various locations in the city, Nickey said.

COUNTY 4-H CLUBS PLAN ANNUAL CAMP

Final plans for the annual Orange county 4-H club camp to be held June 28 to July 1 at Camp Rokili in the San Bernardino mountains, were being made today by 4-H club officials.

All indications point to a greatly increased attendance over the past two years and a program of activities that will give interest, fun and recreation to every member attending. It was announced.

It is planned to have those attending meet at Olive at 8 a. m. June 28 to proceed to camp in caravan formation.

Among those assisting in the program of camp activities is Dr. Carl Wold of the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Gardens, who will give instructions in nature study.

Police News

Tom A. Aguilar, 31, Irwindale, Calif., Monday began serving a 75-day county jail term after conviction of drunk driving.

While attending a wedding on North Flower street Sunday, Edwin E. Heacock, 38, of Honolulu was sought out by city police and arrested on a warrant from Glendale, charging him with non-support of minor children. Heacock made $500 bail and was ordered to appear in Glendale court Wednesday at 10 a. m. Heacock said he is an engineer.

SPURGEON SCHOOL PATRONS PROTEST TO BOARD AGAINST TRANSFER OF NEW PRINCIPAL

Patrons of Spurgeon school, objecting to the proposed transfer of Principal Walter Egger from that school to Logan school, turned out in force last night and "jumped" on the board of education and Superintendent Frank Henderson.

The board and Henderson refused to be stampeded into an immediate decision, and met the onslaught with dignity and determination, deciding to investigate more thoroughly and render their decision at the next meeting. Henderson remarked, however, that "the request probably would be granted."

The Spurgeon patrons, led by Dr. L. N. Sherrard, demanded immediate decision by the board to retain Egger at Spurgeon school, where they said he had, within the single year he has been principal there, raised the scholastic standards greatly and achieved remarkable results, particularly in boys' work.

When the board pleaded for time to consider Superintendent Henderson's recommendation for the transfer, the patrons showed impatience, and said that, since they had already approached board members on the matter and conferred with Henderson, no further time should be needed. They demanded that the "investigation" and "consideration" be carried on at once in their presence, and the question settled.

When the board persisted in its decision to hold the matter over until another meeting, there were open charges that the board was giving the patrons the "run-around," and as the group departed, one member was heard to threaten use of the ballot against the board.

A petition from Spurgeon patrons, bearing more than 200 signatures, was on the board table when the delegation arrived to support it.

HIGH SCHOOL POOL TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

The board of education's approval of the high school swimming pool summer project last night assured that the pool will be opened next Monday, June 23. Under the general supervision of Principal Lynn Crawford, the pool will be in charge of Norman Paul, under whom will be a staff of three women and three men, to handle the girls and boys.

The board of education will hear the cost of four pool employees, paying Paul $20 per week, Elizabeth Downie and Marion Parsons $10 per week each, for girls' supervision; and Mrs. Mermann $15 per week for handling showers and towels. The WPA will pay the other three men employees.

Nursery School Closed
Parents of children who were in the WPA nursery school, which has been conducted for two years, with quarters furnished by the school district, addressed a communication to the board last night, expressing appreciation for the quarters in the past, and the hope that quarters can be provided for reopening the school next fall. It was necessary to close during the summer as the quarters in McKinley school were required for other purposes.

The superintendent said he was not insisting that the transfer be made, but that the plan involved transfer of another principal and teacher, and he was not prepared last night to recommend substitute arrangements to the board. He also applied a gentle rebuke to Dr. Sherrard when he suggested that the board should be allowed to consider the matter with some measure of dignity.

R. R. Hays, acting as chairman in the absence of George Wells, said that he had scarcely heard of the matter before, and had had no time to consider it. He would like to have a few more facts.

"All right, let's have them now. What are you waiting for?" someone called from the crowd. "Who do you want to discuss it with?"

This and other similar sallies caused the administrative jaws to set with determination not to be driven. Both Ridley Smith and M. R. Youel promptly offered motions to postpone action until the next meeting. The motion carried.

And the Spurgeon group went home poorly pleased, despite the assurance that their request probably would be granted.

Chairman Hays explained to the patrons that it has always been the custom of the board not to act upon petitions until the next meeting after the one at which the petition is presented.

EDWARD'S FIRST BIRTHDAY AS RULER

All the king's horses and all the king's men, turned out today to observe the birthday anniversary of King Edward VIII, of England. Below are the Horse Guards, caparisoned in their colorful parade uniforms, going through the ceremony of trooping the colors in the king's honor, on his first birthday as their monarch.

"DEAR HAM: HUMAN NATURE IS FUNNY," SAYS WRITER

BY TED STEPHENSON

Dear Ham:

You know, Ham, human nature is a funny thing. Some people are just stubborn enough not to believe the writing on the walls even when the words are spelled in capital letters.

Take this Democratic central committee situation, for instance. (Incidentally I hear you have that particular situation pretty well under control.) Four years ago there were as many candidates for a seat on the committee as there are fleas on Aunt Tittle's Dalmatian. They had high hopes, they did. There was going to be a new deal, and along with the new deal were prospects of a goodly number of postmasterships to be considered. They, the prospective committeemen, naturally believed that the sugar would be dished out in the usual manner via the committee's recommendations.

A funny thing happened, though. When it came time to dole out the sugar, they found that somebody else had the key to the warehouse. They tried to pick the lock several times but just didn't get anywhere at all.

Ham, can you imagine such a situation as that existing? Some of the committeemen became very angry indeed, and howled long and loud. Washington and McAdoo, however, are a long way off, and for the most part their cries of distress went unheard. One of the good committeemen became so aggravated that he up and resigned. I mean Jules Markel, a good Democrat if there ever was one.

There were one or two persons who intimated that maybe you might know who had the key to the warehouse. Ham, apparently these Democrats don't take you seriously. Just give a look at what's happened again this year, and there aren't any vacant postmasterships to be filled either.

As you know, Ham, there are only 22 seats on the central committee, but believe it or not, there are an even 40 candidates seeking election. Most of these candidates are of the "free lance" type, who are not affiliated with any party.

SUPPORTERS OF ROOSEVELT TO RALLY JULY 1

A meeting of the supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt for re-election will be held Wednesday, July 1, at 830 p. m., at Legion hall, Santa Ana.

Dinner will be served by the Legion auxiliary. Seats will be available for 350. Following the dinner there will be a short program, including music, a report of the Philadelphia convention, and introduction of Democratic candidates for nomination, followed by organization of an "On With Roosevelt" club.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from Mrs. Peterson, of Orange; Mrs. C. C. Violet, of Garden Grove; Wayne Harrison, of Santa Ana; William Bielefeld, of Placentia, and Clyde Baxter, of San Clemente.

Persian Cat Is Lost From Auto On County Road

Somewhere on the streets of Santa Ana a four-month-old gray and white Persian cat is wondering. He was lost yesterday from a car enroute to Escondido.

A few weeks ago, Mrs. B. W. Veale, 1107 Highland ave., Santa Ana, presented her daughter, Mrs. George Clewett of Escondido, with a Persian cat. This weekend Mrs. Clewett visited in Santa Ana with her parents. When she and Mr. Clewett left for their home yesterday, they put the little Persian in a basket in the rear seat of their car. Stopping in San Juan Capistrano last night, they noticed that the cat was missing. This morning Mrs. Clewett phoned and asked her mother to attempt to find it for her.

SPELLING MATCH IS FEATURED AT MEET BY GRANGE GROUP

An old-fashioned spelling match, and an enjoyable social hour, during which plans were made for the summer picnic in July, when State Master Schimeyer will be here, marked the recent meeting of Wintersburg Grange.

Mrs. Della Walker, lecturer of the Grange, appointed Mrs. Decker and Mrs. Roy Corry as captains, to choose sides, then the entire Grange and visitors participated in the spelling match.

Mrs. Walker then launched a junior debating team, with the following question for discussion: "Resolved that civil service for all government employees is far superior to the present 'spoils' system on appointees." June Cordy will captain the affirmative and Vera Graser the negative side.

Master Davis invited all present to the Centralia Grange pot luck and social last night. W. O. Eades, candidate for the assembly in the 75th district, was present. Master Wardlow announced the Pomona meeting at La Habra this evening at 7:30.

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than three pounds of waste matter.

When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS

It took "Big Bill" Cole and Mearl Yonel to dig up the evidence in the now famous softball case pending in the Orange County night league courts: Anaheim vs. Irvine.

And circumstantial or otherwise, the evidence indicates that president Vic Rudy guessed wrong the night he had to make a snap decision after discovering that Anaheim's mound was a couple of feet too close to home plate.

It will be remembered that prior to the discovery, an Irvine batsman (Ray Hapes) hit a home run with two aboard. Pressed for a ruling, Rudy threw out Irvine's runs, ordered the ball game started all over again, with the pitcher back at the proper distance.

Mystified as to why Irvine, a visiting team, should have been penalized for an Anaheim ground-keeper's mistake, many believed Rudy in error. But they couldn't prove it, and there was just enough doubt to keep 'em quiet.

But Bill Cole, who preceded Rudy as leader of the county confederacy, knew the play and he and Yonel found it in print in the 1935 Spalding guide, under "Knotty Problems."

Here's what the rulebook says:

Question—The pitcher delivers the ball to the batsman from two feet in front of the pitcher's plate, and the batsman hits for two bases. Does the hit stand?

Answer—Yes.

Cole believes this covers the Irvine-Anaheim play, contending that Anaheim's pitcher delivered an illegal pitch which was hit for a home run rather than a double.

Time out to check up on Orange county's ball players:

George Blaeholder is having the best year of his career at Cleveland and is now called the ace of the Tribe staff. He has won 6 and lost 2. Only last Friday he performed the unusual feat of pitching on ball and it retired the side. Then Cleveland made enough runs to give Blaeholder credit for the victory. . . . Cleveland took Blaeholder off Connie Mack's hands. . . . Steve O'Neill figured the Garden Grove veteran would be a handy fellow to have around for occasional relief work. . . . Mister Mack, experimenting with youth and going nowhere in particular, couldn't use the fellow with the 32-year-old flipper. . . . Cleveland didn't need him, of course. . . . The Indians came up from the spring training camp with what was, on paper, the best pitching staff in the league. . . . O'Neill took on George just to give the guy a break, you might say. . . . George had been kicked around a lot in his major league days since he first appeared with the Browns in 1923. . . . the big German with the sliding run committed for several years between St. Louis for the dignity (if any) of Horneby became irked at "the Judge" for not following his instructions on how to pitch to a certain batter and traded Blaeholder to Philadelphia. Cleveland bought him for a song. . . . and now George heads the pitching staff in percentage.

"Arky" Vaughan is having a tough time getting started but his batting average has soared to .392 and advice from Pittsburgh are that he is emerging from a long slump. . . .

Out of action nearly two months with a broken ankle, Don Johnson returned to the Missions lineup Sunday. . . . he got a double and, indicating his leg injury has not slowed him up, stole a base.

Glenn (Babe) Gordon is hitting hard and consistently for Newport in the Northeast Arkansas league. His latest average was .319. . . . Joe Mene is now with Killgore club of the East Texas league, a subsidiary of the Oklahoma City (Texas league) team. Mene contracted a mild form of pleurisy sickness at Oklahoma City.

Willard Hershberger, much-traveled catcher who has played in seven different leagues as Yankee chaff, has been operating at second base since migrating from Newark to Oakland. Hershberger started as an infielder when he was in high school at Fullerton.

Oddities in the Sport news: Riverside signs "Chico" Sabella, one of the best night ball pitchers in the business, and uses him as an outfielder in a crucial game—that was lost.

Koegler New Saint Coach

FORMER W. S. C. FROSH MENTOR GETS JOB HERE

Joseph J. Koegler, former freshman basketball coach at Washington State college, will be the new varsity baseball coach and coach of "B" football and "B" basketball at Santa Ana high school next year.

Koegler was elected to the post by the board of education last night, at a salary of $1600 per year.

He quit a higher-paid coaching job at Wapto, Washington, to come to Santa Ana, it was learned.

Koegler, who is 29 and married, has had six years coaching experience at Priest River, Idaho; Madras, Oregon; and other schools. He coached the Cougar freshmen several years ago. He is a graduate of Washington State.

Besides coaching Class B teams in basketball and football, and handling the varsity horsehide crew, Koegler's assignments include two classes in physical education, and a couple of history classes.

Selection of Koegler for the local job came after Thomas Dyer, originally elected to the position, withdrew to accept a coaching post at Excelsior high school.

LICKING TO RUIN JOE LOUIS?

Braddock Sorry Schmeling Got First Crack At Him

EXPERIENCE IS WHAT COUNTS

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—"Punching around like that guy," said Jim Braddock, following a long pull on his beer, "never did anybody any good. Black or white, young or old, two hundred right hands 'bn the kisser does something 'bn to you."

The champion sounded this opinion on Joe Louis, and the walloping he took from Max Schmeling last week, during a little boxing caucus in his hotel room here. Jersey Jim, who came down here to referee the fight between Leroy Haynes and Al Ettore, just can't understand those experts who have announced in print that from the beating will arise a stronger and smarter Joe Louis.

"An ordinary beating might have helped him," Jim said, "but not that awful one he took. Jez, I been fighting for nearly 12 years, and Joe got more punishment in 12 rounds than I have altogether. If he doesn't take a six months or a year's rest he's crazy. That licking Max gave him may leave him punchy, too. I've known lots of fighters who, once they got banged around and flattened, just never could work up their confidence again."

Braddock frankly admitted that he was disappointed that Schmeling beat him to a shot at the supposedly invincible Detroit Negro.

"I'm not second guessing, or trying to take anything away from Max, when I tell you that I've known all along that Joe was ready to be exploded. Everybody though I was just talking when I said six months ago that just as sure as I fought him, I'd knock him out. I remember saying to myself, as I watched him fight Paulino, what a sucker he was for a right hand. Why, every time he jabbed he leaned way over and stuck his kisser out there, just begging for it to be knocked off. I would have knocked it off, too."

In his enthusiasm, Braddock stood up and, using his manager, Joe Gould, as Louis, showed just how he had figured out to slam home a right over the "Bombers" left.

"We worked this all out with pictures," Jim said. "We knew it was a cinch anytime we could get in there with him. We knew this, too. You don't make great fighters in a year or two. There ain't never been a champion made in that short a time. A great fighter's got to have experience, and there's only one way to get it—in this fighting. And not fighting mugs, either. And until Max got in there, that's all he ever fought."

Braddock believes he'll lick Schmeling in the fall, but not easily. "He's been around a while and knows some of the answers," Jim said. "But just about all he's got is a right hand, and I'll give you my end of the purse if he hits me with more than two or three right hands in the whole 15 rounds. A right hand punch is a sucker punch. Good fighters don't get hit with 'em often. My left hand is a pretty good piece of business, and Schmeling's isn't. And I figure a guy with two hands oughta beat a guy with one."

Braddock's confidence again.

Good fighters don't get hit with 'em often. My left hand is a pretty good piece of business, and Schmeling's isn't. And I figure a guy with two hands oughta beat a guy with one."

Braddock's confidence again.

Braddock frankly admitted that he was disappointed that Schmeling beat him to a shot at the supposedly invincible Detroit Negro.

"I'm not second guessing, or trying to take anything away from Max, when I tell you that I've known all along that Joe was ready to be exploded. Everybody though I was just talking when I said six months ago that just as sure as I fought him, I'd knock him out. I remember saying to myself, as I watched him fight Paulino, what a sucker he was for a right hand. Why, every time he jabbed he leaned way over and stuck his kisser out there, just begging for it to be knocked off. I would have knocked it off, too."

In his enthusiasm, Braddock stood up and, using his manager, Joe Gould, as Louis, showed just how he had figured out to slam home a right over the "Bombers" left.

"We worked this all out with pictures," Jim said. "We knew it was a cinch anytime we could get in there with him. We knew this, too. You don't make great fighters in a year or two. There ain't never been a champion made in that short a time. A great fighter's got to have experience, and there's only one way to get it—in this fighting. And not fighting mugs, either. And until Max got in there, that's all he ever fought."

Braddock believes he'll lick Schmeling in the fall, but not easily. "He's been around a while and knows some of the answers," Jim said. "But just about all he's got is a right hand, and I'll give you my end of the purse if he hits me with more than two or three right hands in the whole 15 rounds. A right hand punch is a sucker punch. Good fighters don't get hit with 'em often. My left hand is a pretty good piece of business, and Schmeling's isn't. And I figure a guy with two hands oughta beat a guy with one."

LACKAYE SIGNS HEMPHILL AND RECALLS SEARS

Manager George Lackaye today started "building up" Santa Ana's Stars for the National League's second-half by signing Harvey Hemphill, young City league infielder, and recalling Leroy ("Chub") Sears, hard hitting outfielder from Irvine of the Orange County league.

Hemphill will join the club tonight when it goes to Westminster, but Sears will remain with Irvine until the Beapickers finish the first-half of their schedule July 6.

A deal whereby Randolph Bell, Olive's manager was to don a Santa Ana uniform has fallen through, Lackaye said. Ben Gelker, business leader of the Packers, refused to part with his ace outfielder. It also is problematical whether Pitcher Ira DeBusk of Irvine will come to the Stars.

Hemphill, a June graduate at Santa Ana high school, played shortstop for the first-half champion Commercial Nationals of the City league. He is a classy fielder but only a fair hitter. Lackaye intends to give the kid a chance for a few innings tonight.

The Stars need a shortstop to replace the imminent departure of Francis Conrad, for whom a deal is in the making with Anaheim, which can give him employment. Either "Chuck" Comstock or Fred Wiseman may come here in the transaction.

Santa Ana meets Westminster with the following lineup: Denney, lf; Conrad, ss; Rebohn, rf; Preble, 2b; Coots, 1b; Smith, cf; Young, 3b; Koral, c, and Coates, p.

Manager Francis Penhall said his Westminster lineup would be unchanged except that Joe Hosack will bat second, Bruce Harms will drop to sixth place, "Fuzzy" Errington, who beat Santa Ana 11-2 couple of weeks ago, will try to repeat.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(UP)—Philadelphia's reputed "black menace," Leroy (Howitzer) Haynes, was just another "overated" heavyweight boxer today after his third straight trouncing by Al Ettore.

Dubbed the "convention special" by its promoters, the 15-round affair turned out dull and boring to 18,000 spectators.

Neither fighter landed a solid punch all night, but the referee and judges agreed unanimously the Italian had outpointed the Negro. Jimmy Braddock refereed.

Ettore weighed 187; Haynes, 193.

Recreational Program Opens In Harbor District

11 DIRECTORS IN CHARGE OF PLAY CENTERS

NEWPORT BEACH, June 23.—The Federal recreation program for the Newport harbor district opened yesterday with 11 directors in charge of the playgrounds and special projects for the summer and fall months. Fred Briggs is general overseer for the Newport Beach units.

Thomas M. Hoberg is directing the activities at the Twenty-third street playground. George Horner is in charge at the Fifteenth street unit. Paul W. Tucker is in charge of the Balboa grounds and Mrs. Maude Lathrum is directing activities at the Balboa Island unit. Mrs. Margaret Myers and Elmer L. Clark are in charge at the Main school grounds at Costa Mesa and E. E. Esly is the leader at the Monte Vista school grounds. Roy V. Whitely is conducting a class in photography. Melvin Abbott a class in radio technique and Ernest F. Shade a class in nature study.

The playgrounds are open each day from 10 a. m. until noon, and from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m., with the exception of Sundays. The playgrounds are operated on week days only.

Couple Married In Mission City

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, June 23.—Com. Albert N. Park Jr., officiated at the marriage ceremony of Dwyre D. Reynolds and Rose Marie Valenza, of Oceanside, Saturday evening in the Capistrano Community church.

The young people, who plan to make their home in Oceanside, were accompanied by Mrs. Madeline P. Winon of that city and Miss Betty Lou King, of San Luis Rey.

Laguna Club Opens Card Series Soon

LAGUNA BEACH, June 23.—The Women's club of Laguna Beach announces resumption of the weekly bridge parties, so long a feature of the club's activities. Suspended during a brief period, repeated demands for the parties has impelled the board of directors to reinstate the weekly bridge tournaments on the schedule of activities.

Accordingly, the first of a series of gay gatherings will be given on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Woman's clubhouse. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served under direction of Mrs. Dairus Rhodes, hostess of the evening. The public is invited to the weekly bridge parties.

Beach Residents Guests at Party

LAGUNA BEACH, June 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Caldwell and William S. Caldwell of the Anchor studio in Arch Beach spent two days in Hollywood as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Beers. Mr. and Mrs. Beers entertained Saturday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ira Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Caldwell, who were married at Tijuana, Mexico, on May 27. Mrs. Caldwell was Miss Madge Clemens, of Hollywood, and Mr. Caldwell is on the engineering staff of the Metropolitan Water district. Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell have established their home at Indio.

Guests beside Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Caldwell and son, William S. Caldwell, included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clemens, parents of the new Mrs. Caldwell; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rosas and two children, Sally and Edward Jr., sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Caldwell; Caldwell, Mrs. Thelma Creste and baby, Aline, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Beers.

SAN CLEMENTE HOLDS BENEFIT FOR CLUBHOUSE

SAN CLEMENTE, June 23.—A dance and card party to raise funds for the reupholstering and renovating of the Social clubhouse was held at the clubhouse Saturday night, with $80 being cleared.

Prizes given were donated by San Clemente business men, the cafe furnishing dinner or luncheon tickets and the merchants articles from their shops. Miss Eunice Tempin received a prize for high score in dominoes; Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts held winning scores in "500." In contract bridge, Mrs. Evelyn Milner and E. D. Anderson, of San Diego, won the two prizes. Mrs. Claude Wright, of Los Angeles, and B. H. Latham received awards in auction bridge. First and second door prizes were awarded to William Holmes and Mrs. Georgia W. Whelan.

Business places contributing prizes were Cowger's market, Adair's market, Heinecke's lumber yard, Amundson's drug store, the Aquarium, Riley's, White House and Travel Inn cafes and San Clemente Beauty shop. An eight-piece orchestra was furnished by Mayor Dan Mulholland. Mrs. Fred Shork and Mrs. David I. Stoddard were the committee on prizes. Mrs. John Killen and Mrs. William Holmes directed the sale of tickets. Roy R. Diven, general chairman, was assisted by Gerald Woodman, Clyde Baxter, John Killen and William Holmes.

Other money-raising affairs will be held by those interested. The walls and woodwork throughout the clubhouse will be freshly decorated and a fresh coat of white will cover the outside. A sun-room adjoining the assembly hall has been added by enclosing the long veranda facing the east. The city tennis court just beyond the clubhouse grounds lately leveled and resurfaced, is now in use and a second court is under construction.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT TO BE OUTLINED FOR ASSOCIATED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 23.—"Orange County's Golden Opportunity" will be the topic of an address heard next Tuesday evening, when members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county gather at the Golden Bear cafe in Huntington Beach. The speaker will be Charles Horowitz, field secretary of the All-Year club of southern California. The speaker, who has appeared before service clubs and various other civic organizations in the county, will base his discussion on a new slant on the important problem of community development.

The dinner will be served at 8:30 p. m. and members of the associations are urged to bring their wives with them. During the brief business session prior to the address, several important resolutions will be discussed.

BROTHERHOOD HEARS TALK ON DANGER OF WAR

BUENA PARK, June 23.—With "Can Civilization Be Saved?" the question topic of his talk, F. Darwin Smith of Long Beach, president of the California College of Commerce, was the speaker at the final session of the Men's brotherhood last evening at the Congregational church social hall.

Highlights of his talk emphasized the immediate danger of war through the propaganda of the munition makers and the conditions of poverty in the United States. The Rev. F. Stanley Powles, assisted by Albert Moon, was in charge of the program. In addition to community singing directed by the Rev. Mr. Powles, entertainment included vocal solos by Gordon McComber, "Dreaming of You" and "A Perfect Day," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. A. E. Rayburn.

Women of the missionary society including Mrs. Nellie Bastady, Mrs. Ernest Bastady, Mrs. Harry Horn, Mrs. J. B. Robinson, Mrs. E. A. Kinney and Mrs. H. H. Haggerty were in charge of the dinner service. The next meeting of the brotherhood will be held September 28. Committees for the affair will be appointed later by the president, C. L. McComber.

Former La Habra Teacher Married

LA HABRA, June 23.—A party held Saturday in Hollywood, which was attended by several from La Habra, announced the marriage, April 18, of Miss Gladys Sorben to Earl B. Barnett. Miss Sorben was teacher of the girls' physical education in the La Habra schools during the 1934-35 term and then accepted a position in the Whittier schools during the past year.

The couple were married in Yuma, Ariz. They are at present building a new home at Laguna Beach, where they will make their future home.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB GROUP ENTERTAINED

TUSTIN, June 23.—Husbands and members of the Neighborhood Club were entertained recently at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Watson at Balboa.

Mr. Watson took the guests for a ride around the bay in his motor boat in the afternoon and again in the evening. Swimming and other beach sports were enjoyed during the afternoon.

Messieurs Frank H. Greenwood, Owen A. Murray, Earl Sharpless and Watson were in charge of arrangements for the dinner shared at 7 o'clock at the prettily appointed dining table.

The club will not meet again until September for an afternoon social meeting but plans to hold a picnic some evening during the summer, with their husbands and children as guests.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Watson and daughter, Barbara, were Mr. and Mrs. Owen A. Murray; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sharpless and children, Margaret and Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trickey, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Hol Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Runnells and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greenwood.

Experienced sportsmen consider the 12-gauge shotgun to be best adapted for game hunting.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR NAVY MEN OVER HOLIDAY

NEWPORT-BALBOA, June 23.—A program which will mark the visit of the destroyer Alden here July 3, 4 and 5 has been outlined by Mayor H. H. Williamson, Lieut. Com. Stanley M. Haight and Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of commerce.

Included in the program will be a softball game between a team from the Navy ship and a team to be selected from the harbor district. This game will be played Saturday afternoon at the grounds of the Newport Harbor High school and Harry J. Estus will take charge of this feature. Following the game the American Legion will hold open house for the sailors from the Alden at the American Legion hut. The officers of the U. S. S. Alden are Lieut. Com. Stanley M. Haight, Lieut. J. D. Sweeney, Lt. J. B. Smith, Ensign A. Ingling, Ensign S. H. Pattle and Ensign D. H. Bivarde.

On Sunday morning two of the officers from the Destroyer and two officials from the city of Newport Beach will play a foursome at the Santa Ana Country club. On Sunday afternoon there will be a boat race between a team selected from the engineering forces and another team selected from the deck forces of the destroyer. These teams will row against each other in a half-mile race to be held on the bay near the Balboa pavilion. The same afternoon teams of three or four members from the deck and the engineering forces will compete in a sailboat race, three or four boats and skippers on each team. Gold trophy cups will be given by the city of Newport Beach to the winners.

The boat races will be in charge of the officials from the Newport Harbor Yacht club. This club is planning one of its biggest affairs of the season for Saturday evening, July 4.

RUNAWAY BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ON her wedding day MARCIA CUNNINGHAM hears her fiancé, BOB HASKELL, tell her one of the bride's friends, SYLVIA, that he loves her but can't afford to marry her.

Marcia, hurt and bewildered, sails alone on the trip that was to be a honeymoon. She meets PHILIP KIRKBY, engineer. Phil is going to Paris to ask CAMILLA HOWE, to whom he has been devoted for years, to marry him.

In Paris Marcia meets Camilla. Bob arrives and the four go about together frequently. One night in a popular restaurant Marcia dances with Pierre, a gigolo. Flashlight photographs are being made and in the confusion Pierre kisses Marcia. She is furious.

ROSITA, a dancer, comes to the table. Marcia believes Bob is much attracted by Rosita. Back at the hotel she finds a letter from her friend, WENDA. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V
"YOUR loving family at once sent over to my house for you, my lamb," Wenda had written in the letter Marcia received when she came from Montmartre with Bob. "Or rather, your father went on a personal quest, accompanied by the disappointed bridegroom. Your mother conceived the notion that maybe you had grown frightened of marriage—of being a good man's wife, and all that. But she behaved royally when the guests came. She told them about your pink eye, and everybody was very sorry, and nobody believed one word of it. Please come back soon. By the way, Camilla Howe is in Paris. I knew her in boarding school. She came out the year before we did and you've probably met her. She is on the level, friendly and gay, but no one could ever get ahead of her, as Robert almost did with you! She might be good for you just now."

Marcia went shopping the next morning, not so much because she needed a new frock but because she wished to go somewhere, alone, away from the hotel. She chose a green-gray dress with a silly little green coat and a gray hat that rolled away from her face, leaving her eyes wide and surprised. But the fitting took only part of the morning. She took a stroll down the Champs Elysees. It was not yet 1 o'clock when she returned to the hotel. In the lobby she saw Phil, and smiled happily.

"How about lunch?" he asked. "I thought I had a girl lined up, but the girl had another man promised—" He paused and made a comical moue.

"Lovely!" Marcia acquiesced. "May I look in my mailbox first?" She had postponed coming home in order to avoid Bob. But now, at the hotel, she had a desire to know, without any more waiting, whether he had left a message. Of course he would have!

THERE was no message and she flushed a little because the clerk looked sympathetic—as though he knew the American girl who ran away from her fiancé on her wedding night, was disappointed that he had not telephoned her. Very well! Bob might be with Rosita now—Rosita with the lacquered hair of ebony, the lacquered nails of shining red. Marcia straightened her shoulders.

She had not deceived Phil. "I'm not making out so well, either," he said ruefully, and she saw that his blue eyes were narrowed, although his mouth laughed.

"I wonder if you are in love," Marcia said, because she had so little thought of herself when she mentioned love to Phil.

"Maybe I'm too lazy to be in love," he answered, but she knew that there was too much strength in his stubborn jaw, too much power in the long, lean body for him to step aside because an obstacle had to be vanquished.

It was a warm, bright day, so they got a car and went out to Versailles. They strolled through the Petite Trianon, up and down and all around the story-book houses which had belonged to Marie Antoinette, her doctor, and her minister. Suddenly Phil was talking about the Pampas again, and she was letting the park of the Petite Trianon become something vaster, higher, more majestic than a queen's home had ever been. It was new, vital, life in the making. Half-laughing, they climbed into the car again and went down the road to Versailles. They did not enter the palace but watched the fountains play. It was nearly dusk when they came again to see the Continentale.

"It was a beautiful day," Marcia said. "Thank you for coming," Phil answered. "Let's do it again before I sail."

"I won't let you forget," Marcia answered, not thinking at all of her answer but wondering already if Bob had left a message. Surely by now he had. Half-afraid, she asked again for her mail and telephone calls. Bob, it appeared, had tried to reach her three times.

CAMILLA, meantime, was having tea in a garden overlooking the water at the Bois. Jimmy was sitting across from her and she could see his uniform shimmering in the mirrored surface when she glanced down. The Count Von Wormstedt had proposed just as Camilla had expected him to do.

Now, facing him across the small table, in a nook that was cloistered in foliage, she thought again of money. It was Bob's reason for choosing Marcia, she had heard. If Bob would do that, why not the count? It was a cockeyed world in which love didn't seem to matter—just something which went on the gold standard. Unless, of course, one considered Phil—she had never been able to accept or to reject him.

She brought her errand thoughts back to Count Von Wormstedt. "Sorry, Jimmy, but I'd not be much good as a countess. I'd have the cook sit in at Monopoly if I liked her."

"Monopoly?" Jimmy asked. "What sort of a pun is that?"

"No pun. It's a game that shows you how wicked capitalists are, getting possession of everybody's property and setting their own terms. My father's one. So is Marcia's."

"Is this Kirkby fellow in on the game, too?" the young count asked.

"Phil? No, he's an old friend. He's not poor—but you wouldn't call him rich."

"Then what can he give you?" The continental insistence didn't let up.

"Love, darling—and faithfulness. Intangible emotions that are nice to have around." She laughed softly. "Not a crest and a title, of course. But we don't need them in our country."

"SEE here, Camilla." The Austrian leaned forward and there was something hard and sharp in the thin outlines of his face. "You and I get along well enough and titles do rate on your side of the pond, say what you please. Your mother would like to grab one for the family album."

"Jimmy Von Wormstedt, you may be a count but I'd like to slap your royal-budded cheek!" She didn't. She sat studying him, amused and a little removed now. Jimmy shrugged his well-tailored shoulders. "Why not? As I was telling you, plenty of titles—some not nearly so old as mine—have made dined good marriages on your side of the Atlantic. Love matches, I mean. Our family is one of the oldest—"

"I can go to the library some day when it rains and read all about it," Camilla answered. "Most of my family got off the boat at Plymouth Rock and we count from there. No, Jimmy, you and I aren't getting married!"

"It's because of this new chap—Bob Haskell, isn't it?" Count Von Wormstedt asked slowly. "Stop! The violence of her own reaction surprised Camilla. "You'd better go, Jimmy—in a hurry!"

He did, leaving the check behind him. Camilla, cheeks matching the crisp red of the linen frock she was wearing, sat a little while asking herself questions. "Why, just why, did you react so violently?" she asked. "Don't you dare—get-to-caring. . . Oh, the deuce!" She paid the check and left quickly.

QUEEN CANDIDATES GUESTS OF C. OF C.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 23.—The eight candidates for queen of the Fourth of July celebration here and also Mrs. Ann O'Brien, who is trying for the women's low hurdles and 100 meter race at the Olympic meet in Germany, were guests of honor at the Chamber of commerce meeting at the Golden Bear cafe at noon yesterday.

Dr. Lawrence Whitaker had Mrs. O'Brien as his guest, Chairman Willis Osborn of the queen committee introduced the candidates.

Mrs. O'Brien stated that she would take part in the tryouts at Los Angeles coliseum this week and finals will be run off at New York. The winners will then go to Germany for the Olympics.

Miss Marjorie Grose, one of the candidates, was out of the city. Those introduced were Lucille McNeil, June Leyerly, Nancy Reid, Edith Huston, Mildred Holmstead, Catherine Padrick, Seal Beach, and Dahlia Spoon-houser.

BEACH CITY DOG KILLS RATTLESNAKE

LAGUNA BEACH, June 23.—Mitzl, a wire-haired terrier owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Daschner, of 321 Whipple place, Laguna Beach, killed a two-foot rattlesnake which invaded the Daschner garden on Sunday afternoon.

Aroused by the furious barking of the dog, ordinarily quiet and tractable, Mr. Daschner came into garden from the house just in time to see Mitzl apply finishing touches to the snake, whose venomous nature was proven by reluctant swelling of the dog's face, where she had been bitten by the reptile. Under veterinarian care, the dog is now recovering.

Card Party Held By Eastern Star

BUENA PARK, June 23.—Officers of the Eastern Star chapter headed by Mrs. Vida Snell, worthy matron, were hostesses at a benefit card party Monday afternoon at the Masonic temple. A refreshment course was served following the prize winners were Mrs. La Rue White, of Cypress, bridge; Mrs. W. B. Shaw, "500," and Mrs. S. S. Grenawalt, door prize.

Stud books recognize the following colors in horses: bay, black, brown, chestnut, dun, gray, and roan.

TEACHERS MARRY IN NEVADA CITY

LA HABRA, June 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Aldridge (Pauline Johnson) have returned from a 10-day honeymoon trip spent at Rock Creek. The wedding, which came as a surprise to their many friends in La Habra, took place June 11 at Reno, Nev.

For her wedding Mrs. Aldridge wore a blue tulle suit with white accessories, and a corsage of white gardenias. They were attended by Mrs. Pauline Cathey and Roy Hart, two friends of the bridegroom.

They are now at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brewster, of the Murphy lease, pending the selection of a home in Los Angeles for the summer while Mr. Aldridge attends summer classes at U. S. C.

Both have been teaching in the La Habra school the past year and Mr. Aldridge had his contract renewed for the coming year, while the bride resigned as supervisor of music for the local schools with the closing of school. The groom is the son of Ralph Aldridge sr., of LaVerne, and has taught two years in La Habra.

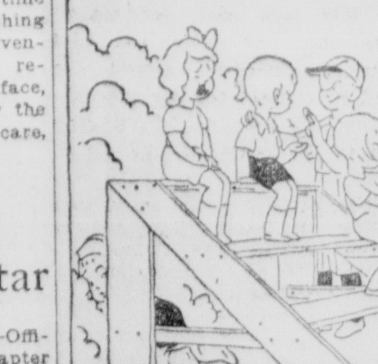

Bridge Enjoyed By O.E.S. Group

LA HABRA, June 23.—Members of the Eastern Star Matrons' association of Orange county were guests Saturday of Mrs. Edgar Leutwiler at her home on Palm avenue, with Mrs. W. E. Jackson, of Brea, as co-hostess. They were assisted in serving the 1 o'clock luncheon by Viola Leutwiler, daughter of the hostess.

Prizes in the bridge games played during the afternoon were won by Vida Snell, of Buena Park, first, and Henrietta Bohling, of Santa Ana, low.

HEATER TO BE DEMONSTRATED ON WEDNESDAY

For years growers have suffered losses from incorrect lighting of orchard heaters with resulting high depreciation of stock, scorching of foliage and extravagant waste of fuel. Tremendous savings will be effected through the use of the new Hy-Lo Automatic regulator, according to W. L. Scheu. This new device can be used on any oil burning orchard heater.

The Hy-Lo Automatic regulator will do away with the follow-up man in the firing operation. Less smoke is present because the burning is automatically regulated. Depreciation is cut due to the limited fire. No oil is wasted, the regulator eliminating flares or overheating.

At a demonstration in the northern part of the state, growers pointed out the tremendous savings in labor which this revolutionary device would make. One grower states that there are over 4,000,000 orchard heaters now in use in California, which is 15 times as many as were in use in 1915.

This tremendous investment is wholly dependent for results on the adequate supply of labor at the time of greatest need. In the event of a heavy freeze, labor must be quickly available or high damage is the result. Now Scheu Products Company has developed the Hy-Lo Automatic regulator, a practical device which cuts labor needs in half by eliminating the follow-up man and the need for manual regulation of the orchard heaters after lighting. This device can be placed on all oil burning orchard heaters now in use.

Attend the demonstration tomorrow night, June 24, at the Tustin Hill Citrus Association, Tustin, California.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, June 23.—Mrs. Lillie Shafer Moore spent several days in San Diego, where she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shafer and family and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Haptonstall and family.

Of interest locally was the announcement received by Mrs. Harry Letson telling of the marriage of her youngest sister, Miss Dorothy Culver, to Palmer Cheney at Williams, Calif., the home of both young people. The bride is a native of Wintersburg, the family home having been that now occupied by Gus Worthy. The new Mr. and Mrs. Cheney plan on visiting here within a few weeks.

Originally, "Long Island ducklings" were raised under special care and feeding conditions on Long Island.

REP. COLLINS LEAVES SOON FOR HONOLULU

Congressman Sam Collins is a busy man these days. In the office is a tough political campaign for re-election.

With the numerous worries connected with such a campaign ever present, he still finds time to continue with the duties incumbent upon his office as a member of the Congressional Military Affairs committee. Today he leaves for San Francisco where he will join other members of his committee and representatives of the congressional committee on naval appropriations for a tour of inspection.

The congressman will first visit Hamilton Field, and later Alameda airport, where it is proposed to develop a gigantic naval air base. Following the inspection in the bay area, members of the military affairs committee will sail for Honolulu where they will inspect Scofield Barracks.

Wintersman Collins will return to Santa Ana in about three weeks, he said today. Intensive work on his campaign for re-election will commence at that time.

TENURE LAW TO BE DEBATED AT PUBLIC FORUM

Many teachers in Santa Ana and other Orange county centers will be interested to know the teachers' tenure law is to be debated Wednesday night at the Forum for Political and Economic Education at Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets, according to W. H. (Ted) Blanding, member of the committee on arrangements.

H. G. Nelson, local teacher, and Maxwell Burke, attorney, will defend and argue against the law, respectively.

"While recent forums have been given as symposiums, with speakers presenting their subjects and general discussion following, Wednesday night's meeting will be in regular debate form," Blanding said. "After the debate is concluded, a general discussion will be permitted. The forums are held for the benefit of all with enlightenment, the keynote. Everyone is invited to visit the forum and, if they wish, enter into the discussion."

Speaking begins promptly at 8 p. m.

HOLLYWOOD—If you would discover for yourself odd names of hamlets and towns of these United States which you probably never knew before, look up the birth records of any number of movie and radio stars. If the town—names thus revealed are at all familiar to you, you will likely find it is because of their association with famous people of screen and air. Claremore, Okla., for example, from there Cadiz, Ohio gave birth to Clark Gable and Clark turned right around and made Cadiz famous.

Gladys Swarthout was born in Deep Water, Mo., and that should be good for a smart crack about still water runs deep, or something. Jack Oakie came from Sedalia, Mo. Bob Burns is from Van Buren, Ark., as well known as Rogers' Claremore and O. O. McIntyre's Gallipolis, Ohio, which might be mistaken for a pair of suspenders but for McIntyre's generous publicity. Randolph Scott first yowled in Orange, Va., and Trixie Friganza in La Crosse, Wis., which I can pronounce, much less locate on the map.

Fred MacMurray mumbled a bit about his home town, Kankakee, Ill. Why does he mumble? Kankakee is also famed for its insane asylum.

CHAPTER LEADERS HONORED AT DINNER

GARDEN GROVE, June 23.—Officers of Garden Grove chapter of the O. E. S. entertained with a 7:30 o'clock chicken dinner recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bryan in Fullerton in honor of their worthy patron, Alice T. Smith, and worthy patron, Carlisle J. Clark.

At the small table where the worthy patron and worthy patron were seated a ruby red color scheme predominated while the colors of the Star points, blue, yellow, white, green and red were used in decorating the other tables.

Following dinner bridge was the diversion of the evening. First prize went to Norman Bryan, second prize to Mrs. Louise Lake and consolation to Mrs. Jeannette Tarpley. Mrs. Alice Keele presented Mrs. Smith with a gift and Norman Bryan presented Mr. Clark with a gift.

Present besides Mrs. Smith and Mr. Clark, were Mr. and Mrs. James Tarpley, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Mary Keele, guests; Alice Keele, Norman Bryan, Lucille Walker, Marcia Carmichael, Clara Carmichael, Louise Lake, Clara Bryan, Emma Henry, Ann Ashley, Eunice Hill, Pauline Merchant, Ann Haaster, Clara Busker, Jack Jentges, Mignon Waters, Dorothy Jentges, Mabel Doig and Emma Kearns.

Bonded Debt In Santa Ana Is $132.50 Per Capita

SURVEY SHOWS HIGH AVERAGE FOR SANTA ANA

Santa Ana occupies a somewhat less favorable financial position than the majority of other principal cities of the nation, according to the National Municipal Review which just released figures from a special survey of 283 cities in the United States and Canada.

Santa Ana has a per capita bonded debt of $132.50, the survey shows, according to the Review, while the average per capita bonded debt among the cities checked was $123.50. Santa Ana's net bonded debt on January 1, from which time the figures were "scored," was $978,155, exclusive of such self-supporting items as utilities, said the Review's report.

Averages Given

"All cities in Santa Ana's population group, 30,000 to 50,000, had a per capita debt averaging $69.15 per resident," Howard P. Jones, director of the league, declared. "Five out of every eight cities surveyed, however, showed a downward trend in debt in the past year, indicating, according to the report, a substantial recuperation."

Jones, in commenting on the survey, vigorously attacked the Supreme Court decision invalidating the municipal bankruptcy act. "This act represented an intelligent effort to solve a knotty problem and any realistic approach to the constitutionality question could not but have found it valid," he said.

The Santa Ana city council last week indicated its confidence in the return of better times when it voted $12,000 per year in salary increases to appointive city workers.

CANDIDATE

SEYMORE WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Further interest in the race for congress, 19th district, developed today with the announcement of the candidacy of Joseph Seymore, Riverside Democrat.

Seymore, who is well known throughout Riverside and San Bernardino counties, has entered the race of his own accord, and is his own manager, assisted by his many friends. He is 54 years of age, married, and has a family.

Born in California, during the past 32 years Seymore has practiced law in the southern part of the state. He feels that he is thoroughly acquainted with the needs of residents in the 19th district and fully qualified to carry on the work of congressman.

In his platform, bearing 23 separate and distinct planks, Seymore has outlined his conception of the responsibilities of a representative from this district and has set forth those things which he thinks most important governmentally in relation to the 19th district.

TROPICAL PAPAYA FRUIT GROWN SUCCESSFULLY IN OPEN GROVE

When Nature drew up plans for the papaya tree, she made arrangements to use every bit of material of the tree from leaves to fruit and R. E. Eckert, who is growing the papaya at Orange Park Acres has taken advantage of this provision of Nature, putting to use all available material of the trees of which he has about 150 on a plot of ground about 6000 square feet in area.

Ripley used the papaya tree in a recent "Believe It Or Not," calling attention to the fact that all parts of the tree are utilized, the sap and leaves and fruit of the tree have medicinal qualities, the fruit may be used as a vegetable or fruit, and that a product something like shredded coconut is made from the bark.

The papaya is a tropical tree. Fruit does not grow from branches as might be expected but straight from the trunk near the top. Clusters may contain from 40 to 100 papayas weighing from one to four pounds, which resemble cantaloupes, whose flavor might be likened to a cross between a cantaloupe and an avocado.

Eckert is harvesting many pounds of the fruit from trees set out two years ago last April. The orchard is on a side hill which slopes toward the north. At the northern side a high board fence about 25 feet high has been erected. The fruit is protected by windbreaks.

On the west is a row of eucalyptus trees and on the east a row of cypress trees. Sunshine rolls down the southern slope over a bed of bright garden flowers, flooding the enclosure with warmth and light.

Two years ago Eckert and Dr. H. J. Williams of Long Beach began an experiment in raising the papaya in the open. It was not an easy task they faced, says Eckert, as the tree even in its natural environment, often is very sensitive to fungus growths. The two men experimented until they developed a cure for fungus attacks and now fruit raised in the orchard is perfect in quality.

Became Interested

Dr. Williams became interested in the fruit in the tropics. He served as a government physician in the Panama canal zone for 26 years, and was there during the entire period of the building of the canal. Natives in the tropics long have used the papaya fruit, sap and leaves for its medicinal qualities. From the sap is made a vegetable peppin which is known in dispensaries as papain or papotin. Indians, it is said, have used the leaves of the plant from time immemorial as a dressing for wounds. The leaves look somewhat like those of the castor bean but are more dentate. The trunk also resembles the castor bean stalk.

Eckert is preparing a medicinal tea, made from the leaves, the tea tasting somewhat like ordinary tea of good quality, which he has placed on the market. The extract from the leaves, according to the United States dispensary, is an alkaloid, called carpine, used for acid stomach conditions and as a heart remedy. Enzymes in the fruit are said to aid digestion.

Trees were started from selected seed. Fruit sells for 35 cents a pound and Eckert now markets all he harvests. Plenty of water is needed and the trees require shelter and heavy fertilization. Eckert's trees are from 10 to 14 feet high. They will grow to a height of about 25 feet in this climate, it is expected. Tobacco plants are grown between the trees to keep them free from certain insect pests. They must be sheltered even in the jungle to produce fruit.

There are four kinds of trees from a biological standpoint of which that known as the hermaphrodite, is the favorite of the grower. On this tree flowers have a self-pollinating quality. The fruit produced is different in shape from that of the three other kinds, the sections being deeply indented. Flowers are yellow or deep cream on all the trees. Fruit varies in color from a creamy-green to yellow. The other kinds of trees are the bi-sexual which has both pistil and stamens, the female which must be hand pollinated as is the date tree, and the male, which bears a small fruit. Flowers on the female tree have only stamens and on the male tree only the pistil.

Y.M.C.A. POOL IS POPULAR PLACE WITH CHILDREN

With more than 100 boys and girls using the swimming pool during the morning and afternoon the Y. M. C. A. swimming campaign opened yesterday with prospects for an unusually busy season. Secretary Smalley reported that more than 75 boys and girls attended the morning classes, while some 40 boys were in for the recreational swim in the afternoon.

The second series of lessons will be given tomorrow morning. Boys who are beginners will have their lessons at 9, and those who can swim a little will be in at 9:30. Girl beginners will take their lesson at 10:15 and the more advanced swimmers at 10:45.

The lessons are given on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and may be entered at any session. The work will continue throughout the month of July.

Recreational swims are given for boys on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and for girls on Tuesday and Friday afternoons, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

RAISES PAPAYAS IN OPEN GROVE

R. E. Eckert is growing the papaya tree on his ranch at Orange Park Acres where many persons have viewed with interest the growth of the trees set out last April. The grower is shown by the side of one of the trees in the enclosure where they are raised. The fruit hangs from the tree trunk.

SCHOOL CHIEF TO LEAVE FOR NATIONAL MEET

Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of Santa Ana schools, will leave Los Angeles on Thursday evening, June 25, in charge of a special train to Portland, to the national educational annual conference which convenes Sunday, June 28, and extends through Thursday, July 2. Henderson is state director of the National Education association.

In connection with this convention, and as local project administrator of the Orange County Federal Forum, he will also confer with prospective leaders for the forum to open September 1.

While at Portland Henderson will meet and confer with Dr. J. W. Studebaker, national commissioner of education, who, in the near future is expected to visit Santa Ana and the federal forum of Orange county.

Henderson's schedule in this connection takes him to Seattle where he will have conferences with Dr. Vernon A. Mund, associate professor of economics at the University of Washington; Kenneth C. Cole, associate University of Washington State; Fay Walter Clover, Pullman, Washington, who for 10 years has been a teacher of economics and sociology in Washington State college; and with Norman F. Coleman, president of Reed College, Portland, Ore.

Returning, he will confer with Alan Blaisdell of International House, Berkeley; John Marshall Nason, Berkeley; Glen E. Hoover, Mills College, Oakland, and with various prospective leaders in the immediate vicinity of Los Angeles.

Henderson expects to return to Santa Ana July 12.

Y' BOYS SAFE AT CAMP: HAVE LOADS OF FUN

Orange county Y. M. C. A. boys are safely located in their summer's outing at Oseola, according to word received today from Secretary D. H. Tibbals, who reports a lively trip to camp and an enthusiastic crowd of young folks having the time of their lives. Boys from Santa Ana, Orange and Anaheim Y's are in the camp together and they have been well mixed up as a means of promoting acquaintance.

Each cabin has adopted a "brand" by which it is designated this year. Thus there are such names as the "Bar S" the "Circle Y" and so on. There are 140 persons in the camp, including leaders and directors.

Richard Kendrick, of Anaheim, was elected camp foreman, with Art Hobson, of Orange, as yell leader, and George Hyde, of Santa Ana, as editor of the "Oseola Grumbler." Clinton Campbell, one of the Santa Ana leaders, is song leader for the camp.

With interesting worship services and a special campfire on Sunday, the boys went into their regular program yesterday with full enthusiasm. They expect numerous visitors next Sunday, which is special visiting day for parents and friends. Boys who were disappointed at not getting into this camp session may have an opportunity to go to Oseola on July 2, when the North Orange county boys have their turn. Secretary Smalley, of the local Y, states that an agreement has been made whereby a few Santa Ana boys may go with the Fullerton boys for the period from July 2 to July 15. Boys who are interested in this opportunity should get their names on the list at once as there will be room for only a few.

FHA LOANS IN ORANGE COUNTY NOW $265,650

In Orange county, from its inception and up to and including March 31, 1934, the Federal Housing administration accepted 66 mortgages for insurance totaling $265,650, it was announced by Donald Renshaw, state director for California for the national emergency council.

It was also revealed that for the entire state 5991 mortgages were accepted for insurance totaling $25,997,706.

Saunders-Broderick
Ceremony is Quiet
Sunday Event

Sunday, June 21, was the wedding of Miss Sarah L. Broderick and Mr. J. E. Saunders, who exchanged vows at a quiet ceremony at 2 o'clock in Santa Ana wedding chapel. The bride wore a white sport frock with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and pink sweet peas. Officiating minister was the Rev. William Crockett of the chapel. The only guests were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Alice Saunders, and Miss Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders are temporarily located in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. A. Broderick, 1615 West Fourth street during her absence in Charlotte, Mich., where she has been for the past several months. She is expected to return in July to rejoin the family group, which includes another daughter, Mrs. Ruth Lewis and her son, Leonard.

Quiet Wedding Occurs
In Tustin Church

With only members of the two families as guests, Miss Emily Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Algeo A. Marsh of this city, and Allen McClure, son of Mrs. Margaret McClure, 806 South Birch street, exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening in Tustin Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Calvin A. Duncan, pastor of the church, read the service, for which the bride was wearing a shirkin suit in soft rose tones, with white dress accessories and a corsage of gardenias and orange blossoms.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Marsh, who wore a floral printed silk. Mr. McClure had the assistance of his brother, Wallace McClure, as best man.

The young couple will make their home in this city where Mr. McClure operates a service station at 912 North Main street. Both are Santa Ana high school graduates, and the bride attended junior college after her high school course.

One-year Old Lad
Celebrates Natal Day

Master Terry Wilson Seacord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Seacord of this city celebrated his first birthday anniversary at a party affair recently when a garden party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett P. Corneli, 18 Hickory street.

Mrs. Seacord was hostess at the event, welcoming a group of young mothers and their children, together with other relatives and friends. Snapshots were taken during the afternoon.

Yellow candles lighted the birthday cake, which was served with pink lemonade, ice cream and animal crackers. There were gifts or the young celebrant.

Present were Mrs. Kenneth Ulrich and daughter, Sherrill Ann; Mrs. Gene Hartman and son, Bonnie Lee; Mrs. Francis Hall and daughter, Sharon Lynne; Mrs. Fred Coffman and daughter, Joan; Mrs. Herbert Meyer and daughter, Sharon Lynne; Terry's grandmother, Mrs. George R. Seacord; his two cousins, Ruth and Barbara Jean Whitney; Mrs. Emmet Seacord, all of this city; Mrs. E. C. Chiles and son, Alvin; Orange; Mrs. Edward Thierly and daughter, Margaret; Mrs. Garth Olson and daughter, Arlene Ruth; Tustin; Mrs. William Sylvester and daughter, Helen; Newport Beach, with the hostess and Master Terry.

Holding their final meeting of the season, members of Elwell Sixth Household economics section were guests Friday afternoon in the Balboa Island home of Mrs. John Harvey.

Hostesses were Mesdames F. P. Jayne, L. C. Fairbanks, Jessie White, R. W. Wieseman and J. W. McCormack. They had planned a baked fish luncheon, served at attractively appointed tables. Some of the group enjoyed a walk around the island, while others at the home to rest and chat.

The next meeting will be held in September.

Santa Ana's Grand Old Man
Is Honored On Anniversary

Separated in age by many decades, nevertheless Judge Charles W. Ellis, Santa Ana's "Grand Old Man" who yesterday attained his 93rd birthday anniversary, claims twinning with Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon, who last night celebrated their joint anniversary of June 22 with a dinner of much intimate charm in her home, 202 1/2 South Sycamore street.

Birthday greetings had been expressed to both celebrants by many flowers, which were used to brighten the home. Especially lovely were dahlias from the garden of Mrs. Irwin F. Landis, one of the three daughters of Judge Ellis. These graced the table where the dinner menu was served.

With the dessert course of the menu was produced a birthday cake so large that it accommodated 52 glittering candles on its white iced surface, as well as the inscription, "Happy Birthday to C. W. Ellis: 1843-1936: From His Twin."

Intimate Group
Sharing this intimate affair with hostess and honor guest were the three sons-in-law and daughters of the latter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hall, Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Irwin F. Landis, together with a small group of close family friends, and to complete the gay party, Johnston Haddon, son of the hostess, who arrived with a group of his friends from "The Golden Hind" now in Los Angeles harbor.

Before contract was introduced as after-dinner diversion, both Mrs. Haddon and Judge Ellis had the pleasure of opening an array of gift packages. In the succeeding card games, prizes were awarded by the hostess to Mrs. Landis and to James Davis, holders of the evening's two high scores. Mr. Davis, who is here from San Francisco on one of his frequent visits to his daughter, Mrs. James Irvine of San Juan ranch, ran Judge Ellis a close race for the "fulness of years" for on June 13 his 87 birthday anniversary was celebrated with a dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. Irvine were hosts in their home.

A Busy Life
Judge Ellis, who is a native of Maine, had his legal training in Wisconsin after which he made his home in Kansas, there gaining reputation as one of the state's finest criminal lawyers. He served on the bench for several successive terms, but retired from active life at the age of 60, to devote his time and attention to property interests. He has lived in Santa Ana for almost a score of years.

In Miller Home
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Miller's pleasant new home, 1809 Heliotrope drive, was setting for another party late last week when their daughter, Miss Patty Miller, entertained a group of co-members of the graduating class of Lathrop Junior high school.

Dancing and games occupied the group of young people during the evening. Snapdragons and zinnias centered the table from which refreshments were served buffet style at a late hour. Miss Peggy Holloway assisted the hostess in serving.

Class members present in addition to Miss Miller were the classes Jacqueline Bradford, Cora Doughty, Maybelle Springmeyer, Elizabeth Hayes, Betty Lacey, Jean Dowds, Olive Schweitzer, Caroline Wells, Jean Winters, Peggy Holloway, Jean Thwaiter, Mary Corey; with their escorts, David Brown, Henry Corneli, Frank Lindgren, Bill Backer, John Thompson, Eugene Cloyes, Bill Swanson, Jimmie Shook, Albert Springmeyer; with Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

Past Matrons
Mrs. John A. Harvey's summer home on Balboa island was opened to members of Hermosa Past Matrons' association Thursday afternoon for a monthly luncheon. Hostesses were Mrs. Harvey and Mesdames Fannie Reeves, Jeanette Terwilliger and H. T. Trueblood.

Zinnias, larkspur and gladioluses were used in decorating for the event. June birthday celebrants accorded honors were Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Kate Corneli, Mrs. F. H. Cloyes and Miss Martha Whitson.

Mrs. C. F. Mitchell conducted business matters, and Mrs. S. A. Moore was in charge of devotions. Members responded to roll call with current events.

Present were Mesdames W. A. Atkinson, W. D. Barker, C. D. Benight, Thomas Brooks, Joe Burke, Jacob Bohlander, Neal Belser, F. D. Drake, C. S. Dunphy, W. D. Finn, John Harvey, M. M. Two Star Districts
Represented by Party Guests

Mrs. Glenn Lyman and Mrs. William Le Wolfe joined as hostesses Saturday afternoon when they entertained Associate Conductresses' association of Eastern Star district 56 and 57 at a pleasant event in the De Wolfe home, 1102 Fruit street.

Menu and decorative details for luncheon were in red and white, colors of the organization. Mrs. Iva Lee, president, conducted a business meeting. Mrs. James Tarpley, honorary member of the group, who is deputy grand master of the 5th district, invited the organization to hold its next meeting July 21 in her cabin near Lake Arrowhead. This will be on the same date that worthy Grand Matron Bertie Y. Todd will make her official visit to Pine Knot chapter.

Sharing the hospitality of the co-hostesses, in addition to Mrs. Tarpley were Mesdames Iva Lee, Orange; Alice Whittaker, Fullerton; Martha Pickering, Huntington Beach; Emma Henry, Garden Grove; Ethel Pity, Laguna Beach; Lina Belle Armfield, Artesia; Alice Lewis, Norwalk; Gay Kellogg, Torrance; Eva Jarvis, Brea; Alice Herman, La Habra; May Shaughnessy, Buena Park.

The date of June 20 was chosen for the wedding in deference to the memory of the bridegroom's father, whose birthday anniversary was thus observed. The garden setting was a lovely one, with an arch of greenery provided for the service. Roses, snapdragons and baskets of pink and orchid gladioluses were arranged at either side with a background of begonias.

Miss Standifer wore a smart white gaberdine suit with all white dress accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Miss Beverly Weindorf was her maid of honor and wore a suit in blue-gray with a corsage of pink roses. Larry Cochran of this city was Mr. Mott's best man. The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of Santa Ana First Baptist church, read the service.

Guests lingered in the garden for the reception hour and were served daintily laid individual cakes with tea, and slices of the bride's cake. This tiered confection with its small bride and groom figures, was cut by the new Mrs. Mott to be served by her bridesmaid, Miss Weindorf, and Miss Helen Louise Ryherd, who had charge of the flower-decorated tea table.

The young people are now honeymooning at Catalina Island and will return to make their home at 712 Bush street. Mr. Mott, who represents one of the county's pioneer families, had his high school training in Anaheim and is now working on the WPA recreational program. His bride has lived in Santa Ana since childhood and was a member of the Santa Ana High school graduating class this past week.

Anniversary Event
Mr. and Mrs. Neal McNeil's thirty-seventh wedding anniversary occasioned a surprise dinner party recently in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon McNeil, 1414 North Baker street.

Pansies centered the table where dinner was served. The honored couple received gifts from the assembled group.

Invited to share the affair with the hosts were Mrs. Grace Bishop; Messrs. Glenn Bishop, Lofton Bishop, Clarence Martin, Upland; Mr. and Mrs. Judson of El Toro, Miss Jean Bishop, and the anniversary couple.

Quill Pen Meets
Quill Pen club members will begin a new program plan at their next meeting, according to arrangements made Monday night at a session in the home of Mrs. William Fritcher, 1312 South Flower street.

Mrs. Frank was well welcome the group to her home July 13, at which time each member of the club will be expected to have an original manuscript on the general theme of Summer Romance.

Monday night's program was an informal one which the president, Mrs. Marah Adams, opened with a feature story. Mrs. Fritcher and Mrs. J. U. Viaw read short stories. Refreshments were served at the close of the affair.

New Grandson
Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Haskell, 314 East Santa Clara avenue have been grandparents since Saturday, June 20, when a son, George William Jr., was born to their son and daughter-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. George W. Haskell of Rowayton, Conn.

A proud young father is well known in this community, where he attended high school, where he is pastor of Rowayton First Baptist church, and has just finished his second year of study at Yale Divinity school. His earlier studies were taken at Chapman college.

BY BATHING!

You've admired Muriel Evans' luscious figure in fifteen recent feature films. She says, "My motion picture work requires that I keep my figure, and I find it is all too easy to add a few pounds too many over a lazy week-end. I watch my scales and when they show that I have eaten too much or exercised too little, I take off the extra pounds with a Cal-A-Mo Reducing Bath."

No weakening effects. It's refreshing. "I've told lots of women in the film world about Cal-A-Mo and I know scores of well-known stars who now take a Cal-A-Mo Reducing Bath whenever they want to lose a few pounds safely and quickly. They used to take vigorous exercises or submit to painful massages—but since Cal-A-Mo was introduced to Hollywood we all use it as a just relax luxurious in my bath and that excess fat floats away."

First Birthday Event

Little Miss Lorraine Crandall's great-grandmother, Mrs. A. F. Lader, of Tustin, and her two grandmothers, Mrs. R. E. Crandall, of Alhambra, and Mrs. H. H. Adams, of Santa Ana, were among the guests present Sunday afternoon at a gay affair marking the first birthday of the little girl.

Lorraine's mother, Mrs. Louis Crandall, was hostess at the afternoon affair, entertaining in her home, 1050 West Highland street. Games were played, and snapshots of the group were taken. Guests enjoyed watching the young celebrant open her own birthday packages.

Miss Phyllis Adams assisted the hostess in serving refreshments, which included two pink and white birthday cakes.

In the group were Joan Bunker, Los Angeles; Ronald Wilcox, Highland Park; Donald Thompson, Phyllis and Elaine Adams, Santa Ana; with Mrs. Edward Thompson, Santa Ana; Mrs. J. F. Dohmer, Tustin; Mrs. George Bunker, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ed Wilcox, Highland Park; Miss Virginia Crandall, Alhambra, in addition to the hostess, the honoree and the proud trio of grandmothers.

Many Informal Events
Enliven Visit of Easterners

Included in the plans for enlivening the short visit here of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Cruickshank of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the mountain party at the A. J. Cruickshank summer cabin in Bear Valley, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, the Miles Cruickshanks, and by Miss Constance Cruickshank, here from San Francisco during her brother's stay, left this morning for the mountains. They will be absent only two days.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. George Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Harvey planned an informally intimate little dinner in compliment to the three visitors, entertaining in the Tavern room of the White House cafe at Laguna Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey have been making their home in the Village for the past year and a half where they are pleasantly located at 464 Holly street.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker and little daughter, whose home is at 1309 South Birch street, left early in June to spend the summer in Laguna Beach where they are on Jasmine street.

Sorority Members Pay
Bridal Honors to
Miss Gruettner

Friends of Miss Harriet Gruettner (whose marriage to Remington Mills of Palos Verdes will be a July event) continue to express interest in her romance. Latest of these friendly gestures was that extended by two of her Pi Beta Phi sorority sisters, Mrs. Winston Fuller of Whittier and Mrs. Gail Stockton of San Bernardino.

Intimacy was the keynote for this luncheon finding its setting in the Fuller home, for with the single exception of Mrs. Steven Hinchcliffe of South Pasadena, sister of the honoree, all those present were from the U. S. C. chapter of the sorority, and had their former college associations as a strong bond.

Yellow and orchid hues were mingled in such decorative details as flowers and place cards for the luncheon hour, for which guests were grouped around small tables. The pale amethyst tones of scabiosa blended with the sunny petals of coreopsis in the flower centerpieces.

Bridge play followed, but in the meantime one of the hostesses read an amusing message to Miss Gruettner, in which it was suggested that as training for rising promptly at future alarm clock signals, she was to leave her card game whenever she heard an alarm, and go turn it off. For the remainder of the afternoon these interruptions occurred frequently, and each time the bride-elect found the clock resting near a be-ribboned package which was hers to claim.

There were traveling prizes, high score prizes and individual prizes in the afternoon of bridge, which was shared by the two hostesses with their honor guest, Miss Gruettner, her sister, Mrs. Hinchcliffe, Miss Ethel Ware and Mrs. Cleon T. Knapp Jr., Pasadena; Mrs. Sheldon Wells, Glendale; Mrs. Carabel Daniels, Whittier; Mrs. Merrill Gregory, Fullerton, and Mrs. Harry Lawson, Beverly Hills.

One of the merriest birthday parties of the past week was that at which Master Jimmie Paul celebrated his fourth anniversary when a party was staged in the home of his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Main street, Tustin. His mother, Mrs. Cassius Paul was hostess.

A dozen little boys and girls, accompanied by their parents, assembled for the afternoon. Paul Browning and Dickie Garstang won first and second prizes for finding the greatest number of buttons in a contest which proved one of many interesting diversions introduced by the hostess.

Refreshments for the party were according to the dictates of Master Jimmie's own fancy. He had decreed that the handsome birthday confection should be a cake adorned with soldier, boat and airplane figures. This was served with ice cream designed as a locomotive engine, and other delights. Centering the table where the children were seated was a paper soldier bulging with gifts for all. Smaller soldiers served as containers for candies and nuts.

The youngest children in the group were little Dianne Patterson, with her mother, Mrs. Douglas Patterson; and nine-months-old Nicky Steele, present with his mother, Mrs. Clifton Steele, Jimmie's sister, Suzanne 2 1/2 years old, was among those who joined in the festivities.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

MISS BARTLEY, M. E. WAGNER TO MARRY IN JULY

ORANGE, June 23.—Announcing her engagement to Marvin E. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wagner, North Glassell street, Miss Dorothy Bartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bartley, entertained with a bridge party at the Doris-Kathryn Tea shoppe Monday night.

High score at earthquake bridge was made by Mrs. George Wheeler and low by Mrs. Horace Inge. Miss Bartley gave players instructions which were placed in envelopes as the game progressed and when players were seated for the final hands, the envelopes were found to contain small white wedding bells which bore the interesting news of the coming marriage in July.

A floral theme was stressed in the decorations and in the tables while a variety of summer blossoms were used in the bride bouquets. Ices molded in the form of wedding bells were served with cake and coffee at the card tables.

The bride is a graduate of the Orange Union High school, Santa Ana Junior college and Santa Barbara Teachers' college. For the past year she has taught the first and second grades of the Roosevelt school at El Modena. Mr. Marvin received his education in the schools of Orange, attending college in Oakland later.

Those present were Mrs. Walter Mueller, Mrs. Lena May Wilsey, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Frank Kamps, of Riverside; Mrs. Isabel Saracuse, Mrs. John Ettiste, Mrs. Edward Allen, Mrs. Earl Stone, Miss Lavora Ranney, Miss Mary Daum, Mrs. Gatty Jones, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Thomas Moreland, Miss Bernice Vestal, Mrs. Victor Ranney, Mrs. Earl Wenger of Upland; Mrs. Morace Inge; Mrs. George Wheeler and the hostess, Miss Bartley.

Officers nominated are as follows: President, Mrs. Louise Orman; first vice president, Mrs. C. H. Adams; second vice president, Mrs. Ollie Kurtz; secretary, Mrs. Geraldine Hobson; treasurer, Mrs. Celia Bryant; chaplain, Mrs. Edith Richardson; historian, Miss Maude Sissen; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Margaret Gullege; marshal, Mrs. Rachel Powell.

Three members of the executive board were placed on the forthcoming ballot. Mrs. Cora Reynolds, Mrs. Anna Christenson and Mrs. Dolores Goodwin, and two on the ballot for county council representatives, Mrs. C. H. Adams and Mrs. Edith Richardson.

Delegates for the state convention in Hollywood in August are to be selected at the next meeting. They will include the newly elected president and the past president and one other. A card party will be held by the county council for the veterans at Sawtelle July 23. Mrs. Fairbairn is to attend.

A joint installation of county officers will take place at Placentia July 30 and the county council will meet July 14 at Tustin.

DOG GIVEN HIGH RATING AT SHOW

ORANGE, June 23.—Nine-month old Wulfe Brillantine of the C. and N. Chow kennels in Orange came through with flying colors at a Los Angeles dog show Sunday, receiving a best of breed rating, the highest honors possible for him to obtain. The dog is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil J. A. Malbach, of 374 North Pine street. He brought home four first place ribbons and trophies.

Wulfe Brillantine took first prize in the puppy class, 8 to 10 months old, first in the bred by exhibitor class and then was adjudged the best male puppy in the show. Next he competed against the show's best female, scoring ahead of that dog to win the judge's trophy for best of breed.

In winning this honor, the classy Chow puppy defeated approximately 40 dogs, scoring high in every classification. A week ago at Pasadena he went best in his class, and three months ago took second in a specialty show. He is the son of Brillante-Ting-Fee owned by the Malbachs and rated as one of the outstanding females on the coast.

INSTALLATION CONDUCTED BY CHURCH CIRCLE

ORANGE, June 23.—The Princess Long circle held its regular meeting last night in the parlor of the Christian church, with Miss Doris Riffle, president, presiding. Miss Patricia Butler led the devotions. The pastor, the Rev. W. R. Holder, introduced the speaker, Mrs. David Byrlee, a missionary home on furlough from Central Africa, who told of her experiences there.

Mrs. Rose Fletcher, their advisor, installed the new officers at a candle lighting service. Miss Mary Esther Wood was accompanied. Those installed were Miss Patricia Bivens, president; Miss Patricia Butler, vice president; Miss Vivian Haha, secretary, and Miss Mary Moore, treasurer.

A gift of appreciation was presented to the past president, Miss Doris Riffle. Following the installation light refreshments were served.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Illustrations by GEORGE SCARDO

The glasses that the Tinies had changed them from sorrowful to glad. Fair Goldy to a small guard said, "We have judged you all wrong."

"We thought, when lights flashed on this scene, that you were being very mean. Now we can look straight at the lights and travel right along."

"Oh, that's all right," one man replied. "It was a little trick we tried. I guess it just worked far too well. We're sorry as can be. We wouldn't harm you little tots, and soon we'll show you lots and lots of thrilling things that we are sure, you will be glad to see."

The whole bunch trudged along for quite a while. Then Scouty Tinymite said, "Look ahead. We being very mean. Now we can look straight at the lights and travel right along."

"At that, it has been lots of fun. One of the weirdest things we've done. Now I can see a clearing. Come on, Tinymites, let's race."

"Go right ahead," one guard replied. "We will be racing by your side." "I'll bet that you can't beat us," little Goldy promptly said.

It was a sight to see them run, and they all had a lot of fun. The guards proved they were pretty good, 'cause they came out ahead.

"Now, take the glasses from your eyes," one guard cried. "Then you'll realize how beautiful it is here, when it's seen in natural light."

The Tinies did, and Dotty said, "Oh, there's a castle, just ahead. The one that we were told about. Oh, isn't it a sight!"

The two guards smiled, and one said, "Yes, we very frankly will confess that it's a very pretty sight. The best you'll ever see."

They reached the castle steps and then, the Tinymites were real thrilled when, the same guard shouted, "Enter. You're as welcome as can be!"

(The Tinies meet a funny, fat jester in the next story.)

HOLLAND and the Lutheran Church owe much of their organ music to Jan Pieterszoon Sweelinck, composer and organist of the famous "Old Church," of Amsterdam. Successor to his father at the console of the church, Sweelinck developed a new form of introduction to hymns, called the "choral-Vorspiel," and was among the first organists to adorn their selections with imitations of the violin.

Sweelinck was born in 1562, studied in Venice, and from that city brought back a form and technique new to northern Europe. He was 19 when he became organist of the Old Church, and remained in that capacity until his death on October 16, 1621. In those 40 years, he wrote many compositions for the organ, and was particularly noted for his organ fantasias. Lutheran music today reveals much of the Sweelinck influence.

One of four stamps issued by the Netherlands in 1935 for the aid of Dutch symphony orchestras, includes a portrait of this great organist.

NEWPORT ASKS FOR CLEANUP OF MUD FLAT AREA

A petition filed today by Newport Beach interests asking the county to "clean up" the mud flats on the westerly arm of Newport bay, the last portion of the bay not thus cleaned, probably will be referred to County Highway Superintendent Nat H. Neff, it is said.

The board took no formal action, but appeared to consider the request favorably. The cost is estimated at less than $5000, the petitioners calling attention to an asserted balance available in the harbor fund, that might be used for the purpose.

This arm of the bay is largely outside of the city limits of Newport Beach, and forms the last vestige of the old, muddy channel of the Santa Ana river. A new bridge will be built across it soon, in connection with the grade separation project at The Ance.

Since the westerly arm of the bay is used by the general public, the petitioners pointed out, the county was asked to put it in the same good shape as the rest of the bay.

GOODMAN SHOOTING 69 IN FAVORITE'S ROLE

WICHITA, Kan., June 23.—(UP)—A day of sub-par golf was expected as the field of the 35th meeting of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament started 18 holes of qualifying play on the Wichita Country club course today.

Johnny Goodman, defending champion who is shooting for his fourth trans-title, led the long list of experts entered. His three-under par practice round of 69 yesterday firmly established Goodman as a favorite although Fred Dold, a local player, turned in the same figure.

Webb Ruling Not To Be Available Before July 1st

Attorney General U. S. Webb will not have his new ruling ready until July 1 in the Orange county controversy between supervisors and school districts, over possession of $47,000 in tax redemptions.

This was the information wired the county supervisors today by District Attorney W. F. Menton, who stopped in San Francisco to see the attorney general, en route to the state convention of district attorneys, at Lake Tahoe.

The supervisors have ordered the transfer of the $47,000 from the tax redemption fund to the county general fund, intending to use it in reducing the county tax rate.

Various school districts of the county also claim the money, and Webb, in one ruling already given, has sided with the schools, holding that the tax was imposed originally under school tax rates, and should now be distributed to the schools.

Menton then asked Webb for another ruling.

Police News

A youth was being hunted today in connection with a report to city police from Manuel Aguayo, 111 South Daisy street, that his home was burglarized yesterday while he and the family were absent. A screen from a front bedroom window was torn off and a white elephant trinket, valued at $2.50, and a $10 ring were taken. A box of marshmallows also was partly eaten.

Thirteen-year-old Lucille Fairres, 253 Lemon street, Orange, was scratched and bruised when cars operated by her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Fairres, 38, and Norman Claire, 1222 Cypress, Santa Ana, collided last yesterday afternoon at First and Spurgeon.

Four Mexican men of El Modena, accused in a complaint of getting a 16-year-old El Modena Mexican boy intoxicated by plying him with liquor were freed today, although two received six-month suspended jail terms after pleading guilty before Justice Kenneth Morrison.

City Officers C. V. Adams and J. L. Grouard reported last night they found several cars standing along West Fifth street, one of which "has a lot of Communist literature in it." A check with Sacramento revealed the car was registered to Benedict D. Fix, 2333 South Main, Los Angeles.

C. A. Rowe, 205 East St. Andrews place, informed city police that a prowler has been active during recent nights in his neighborhood. He asked a police check-up, which was promised.

It wasn't a suicide that Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and Roy Hartley found in the 1600-block of North Broadway at 2:30 a. m. today. Neighbors reported a car was standing along the curb with the motor running and a body was in the rear seat. The body was that of a man who admitted he had been drinking and was having a quiet "snooze."

CONDITION OF TAXI DRIVER IMPROVED

Condition of Harold "Bud" Marshall, 36, Laguna Beach taxi driver, who was brutally slugged and shot at Laguna canyon June 16, was reported better at St. Joseph hospital today.

He again identified Edgar "Don" DeBord, 18, Ontario, and through a picture, Jerry Vance, 18, Chino, as the attackers who took $5 from him after the attack which fractured his spine and left him paralyzed. DeBord, in custody, made a confession, implicating Vance and stating Vance fired the shot which left Marshall with but a 50-50 chance of recovery. Marshall made an additional statement of activities on the night of June 16, substantially the same as his first story. He definitely declared only two persons, DeBord and Vance, were involved in the attack.

The sum of $10,000 damages was asked in behalf of James F. Wann Jr., 3, and $10,000 was sought by his mother, Mrs. Rada Wann, with her husband, James F. Wann, asking $1254, in a suit filed in superior court against General Motors Corporation, Harlan Anderson and Robert Ward.

The suit is based on a collision at Santa Ana boulevard and Flower street last February 14, between cars driven by Mrs. Wann and Anderson. Mrs. Wann and her son both were injured. Wann's claim covers damage to the car, medical expense for his wife and son, and loss of his wife's services.

The board took no formal action, but appeared to consider the request favorably. The cost is estimated at less than $5000, the petitioners calling attention to an asserted balance available in the harbor fund, that might be used for the purpose.

The affair will start at 8 p. m. and all truck drivers and helpers are requested to attend the meeting. Announcement of the convocation was made today by James J. Bardwell, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

OSTEOPATHS DEEM WIDE DRUG USAGE

PASADENA, Cal., June 23.—(UP)—Five hundred California osteopaths, in convention here today, smarted under the criticism of one of their own profession that "we seem to be going the medicos one better" in the use of drugs.

Dr. Walter V. Goodfellow of Los Angeles told the California Osteopathic association session that with the American public spending $75,000,000 annually for drugs, and with only $200,000,000 of these prescribed by physicians, it is time "our profession began shouting from the housetops against this practice."

He flayed osteopaths for using drugs declaring "we seem to be going the medicos one better in this practice. Drugs should be used only in acute cases."

MRS. MOODY OPENS 1936 COMPETITION

BERKELEY, June 23.—(UP)—Helen Wills Moody, world's ranking woman tennis player, today makes her 1936 competitive debut when she and Edward G. ("Bud") Chandler, president of the Northern California Tennis association, meet Elsie Gabel, San Francisco, and Marcus Gordon, Berkeley, in a first round doubles match of the California tennis championships.

Mrs. Moody, never rated highly as a doubles player, paired with Chandler in the Pacific Coast championships last year. They advanced no further than the third round.

The battle for leadership in the Pacific Coast league was tied up into a tighter knot today than at any time since the season opened. The four first division teams have only a half-game margin between them. The San Francisco Missions and Seattle Indians are tied for first place with 46 games won and 39 lost. Just half-a-game below them rest the Portland Beavers, with 42 wins and 36 losses. And only a single percentage point below the Beavers are the Oakland A's, their record showing 44 victories and 38 defeats.

The board took no formal action, but appeared to consider the request favorably. The cost is estimated at less than $5000, the petitioners calling attention to an asserted balance available in the harbor fund, that might be used for the purpose.

MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 23.—(UP)—The stock market today rose to new highs since April 13 in moderately active trading, ran into moderate profit-taking, and was accompanied by dullness, and then recovered from its lull.

Toward the close support was noted all along the line. Numerous issues registered fair-sized gains. Several made new highs for the year or longer. Ralls were slower than others in rallying. Steels also lagged. The market firmed and moved narrowly late in the session.

Utilities led a recovery in the bond section after early irregularity. Wheat, oats and rye positions and July corn made new highs for the season. Cotton futures, based on the date, were irregular. The dollar was steady with the French franc unable to rally further despite a cut in the Bank of France's discount rate from 5 to 3 percent.

Business news was featured by sharp, increased car loadings reported, new highs for Sears Roebuck's sales for the 4 weeks ended June 15, and the date, and the declaration of the regular dividend by Wilson and Company contrary to expectations.

Mrs. Moody, never rated highly as a doubles player, paired with Chandler in the Pacific Coast championships last year. They advanced no further than the third round.

The battle for leadership in the Pacific Coast league was tied up into a tighter knot today than at any time since the season opened. The four first division teams have only a half-game margin between them. The San Francisco Missions and Seattle Indians are tied for first place with 46 games won and 39 lost. Just half-a-game below them rest the Portland Beavers, with 42 wins and 36 losses. And only a single percentage point below the Beavers are the Oakland A's, their record showing 44 victories and 38 defeats.

The board took no formal action, but appeared to consider the request favorably. The cost is estimated at less than $5000, the petitioners calling attention to an asserted balance available in the harbor fund, that might be used for the purpose.

Since the westerly arm of the bay is used by the general public, the petitioners pointed out, the county was asked to put it in the same good shape as the rest of the bay.

Johnny Goodman, defending champion who is shooting for his fourth trans-title, led the long list of experts entered. His three-under par practice round of 69 yesterday firmly established Goodman as a favorite although Fred Dold, a local player, turned in the same figure.

Webb Ruling Not To Be Available Before July 1st

Attorney General U. S. Webb will not have his new ruling ready until July 1 in the Orange county controversy between supervisors and school districts, over possession of $47,000 in tax redemptions.

This was the information wired the county supervisors today by District Attorney W. F. Menton, who stopped in San Francisco to see the attorney general, en route to the state convention of district attorneys, at Lake Tahoe.

The supervisors have ordered the transfer of the $47,000 from the tax redemption fund to the county general fund, intending to use it in reducing the county tax rate.

Various school districts of the county also claim the money, and Webb, in one ruling already given, has sided with the schools, holding that the tax was imposed originally under school tax rates, and should now be distributed to the schools.

Menton then asked Webb for another ruling.

Today's Guest Editorial

By

Harry M. Williamson, Mayor of Newport Beach

The "Guest Editor" selects his own subject matter and it may or may not agree with the opinions of the publisher. The Register will invite and publish daily a "guest editorial" by some prominent, practical Orange county citizen.

ORANGE COUNTY, IT'S UP TO YOU

Now that Newport Bay, Orange County's Harbor has been formally opened, following the spending of nearly Two Million Dollars, giving Orange County a real harbor, perhaps we should begin to think what the next move should be.

Orange County, It's Up to You. We, of the Harbor District have ideas. These ideas should be adapted to the ideas of the county as a whole. The harbor is no longer a local matter, it is even more than an Orange County matter—Riverside and San Bernardino counties are interested. But it's up to Orange County to take the lead and to suggest the next step in the general development of the harbor and the county. The two are inseparable. The future of the county must depend in a large measure upon how the harbor grows and develops, and the county should right now begin to think, to talk, and to plan its future with the harbor as the central and deciding factor.

There is no doubt that water is paramount. But the water question in Orange County will be worked out by concession, compromise and cooperation. It is too vital to be avoided or long delayed. It must and will be solved. Orange County has many assets. Within its limited area are concentrated more attractions and advantages than exist in any other like area. These advantages have been conserved until today, when the best in other localities has been improperly or unwisely developed, Orange County can begin a career with attractiveness that few can resist.

Coming first to California as tourists, visitors return to become residents, attracted to those places where they are most cordially welcomed and made to feel at home. These visitors can be brought back to Orange County as residents. The united effort of our people who also first came here as sightseers can accomplish this. The spirit of hospitality is remembered when many other factors are forgotten. Nowhere else can these same visitors find in so small a compass, and so readily adaptable to high-class development, an area such as this Orange County is. So in measuring up those things to be done by Orange County, hospitality must play an important part.

But we do not want to suggest what should be done, we want rather to reassert that Orange County, it's up to you. WE are ready to help. We prefer to let YOU suggest the means and the method. Whatever you propose we will be pleased to take part in, believing that with a united effort Orange County can accomplish so much more than we can accomplish working separately.

In our small way we have done work that perhaps the county might have undertaken but just as long as we are able, we are glad to do this. The Harbor Celebration is a case in mind. Thousands of column inches of advertising were secured for Orange County's Harbor. News reels made pictures, nation-wide radio chains gave us some of their valuable time and most generously did the press respond to the presentation of pictures and news items, without this cooperation the affair would have been out of the question. This was done, financed by the city of Newport Beach with the aid of our public spirited citizens and others interested in the community. Another illustration is bringing to Orange County the Los Angeles County Council and posts of the American Legion for their annual Pilgrimage. How much more can be accomplished when the same sort of effort can be made county-wide in scope and character, and in turn supported by county-wide enthusiasm, which would increase the funds and consequent effectiveness a hundred fold.

Orange County, it's up to you to start the ball rolling. We are ready and waiting to take up our share, and to haul on a line when you are ready.

BANKING STRUCTURE

Ogden L. Mills, former Secretary of the Treasury, in his new book "Liberalism Fights On," published by MacMillan, says, under the last chapter "A Creed and a Program," that "we must not rest satisfied until we enjoy what we have never had, a sound banking structure. We must make it impossible ever again for the entire credit mechanism of the country to be diverted to speculative use."

"We must recognize the fatal characters of speculative booms, and apply our best business brains to the development of organized methods to control unhealthy expansion. Credit is a most powerful lever. There is nothing more important than that the control of the flow of credit should be vested in the hands of central banking authorities, who will be entirely independent of both private business influence and political pressure."

Mr. Mills recognizes the need and the great damage done by allowing banks under private control to expand credit, but he seems to have no solution. We wonder what he would think of Irving Fisher's requirement of 100% in currency back of bank deposits.

People who have warm friends are healthier and happier than those who have none. A single real friend is a treasure worth more than gold or precious stones. Money can buy many things, good and evil. All the wealth of the world could not buy you a friend or pay you for the loss of one.

MIGHTY POPULAR THESE DAYS

The voter—a mighty man is he—during election season.

From now on until after election day he will be sought after by the various and sundry candidates and their friends and supporters. From far and near will swarm office seekers, all seeking to hypnotize the voter into casting his ballot the "right" way at the polls.

By personal contact, by printed word and by air, the candidates and their backers will seek out the voter. From now on, no matter how lowly his position in life, regardless of the salary he makes, the kind of car he drives, his race or creed, he will be the special target of the office seekers and their friends.

At the corner grocery, at lodge meetings, at card parties, at the office, shop or in the field, he will hear of the merits or shortcomings of this or that candidate for local, state or national positions.

He will hear that such and such a man is the answer to a nation's prayers; that if So and So is elected to office the nation (or city, county or state) will certainly wake up in the minus column; that the future welfare of little John Doe, aged two months, depends upon the citizenry going to the polls in great numbers and selecting, well, you fill in the name.

From public meeting places throughout the land will ring the shouts, the honeyed words and the all-enveloping wisdom of the candidates and their friends. No matter where he goes or how much he longs to get away from it all, the voter will find that there's a candidate lurking behind every lamp post.

He will be deluged with "facts and figures" designed to sway him one way or the other. His mail, ordinarily confined to gas, light and telephone bills, will suddenly mount to astonishing proportions. In a word, he will be honored, sought after and made to feel that he is indeed the man of the hour.

It is remarkable how men seeking public office suddenly acquire almost superhuman knowledge on how to solve all the problems confronting the people. They blossom forth with wisdom that amazes their best friends. Idea upon idea bursts forth to confound their opponents and befuddle the voter.

The voter will discover that the man who used to pass him by on the street without so much as a nod of recognition is highly pleased to greet him. "So glad to see you. How is the family? My, it certainly is a pleasure to clasp your hand," and so on and on until the voter is ready to believe that perhaps the candidate is after all a swell fellow and really hadn't seen him on previous occasions.

In the "good old days" every voter could count upon a pocketful of cigars every block or so and maybe a kiss for the baby but nowadays he has to be content with handshakes and promises. Perhaps the baby is just as well off without the kisses. And on second thought, maybe the voter is just as well off without the cigars. Some of them were pretty smelly.

The army is approaching. In fact, the advance snipers are already here.

Pity the poor voter!

DEBATE SCHOOL TENURE LAW

Every citizen in Santa Ana, or future citizen, who is interested in intelligent education, and all should be, should attend the debate Wednesday night, at the Unitarian church on the question of School Tenure Law.

The law will be defined by H. G. Nelson, and will be opposed by Maxwell Burke. There will be an opportunity from the floor to express opinions on the subject.

There is nothing more important facing every parent and every citizen than intelligent instruction of the students of the land. Every parent, and every teacher who is open minded on the subject should attend the debate and hear the arguments on both sides of the subject so that he can more intelligently decide whether it is good or bad for our children. It seems to us that that is the real test of the merits of the law as to the results it might have on our children.

STREAMLINED FREIGHT

Inauguration of streamlined passenger trains is proving an effective impetus to recovery for the railroads. The new trains are making money where deficits existed before. Speed and modernization have triumphed.

The same cannot be said for the railroad freight services, however, according to Joseph B. Eastman, federal co-ordinator of transportation. In a recent exhaustive study of this branch, Eastman found that a certain group of freight cars covered an average of 376 miles in 144 hours. Only 23 hours were spent on the road. The remaining time was spent in terminals.

Hence Eastman urges in effect the streamlining of freight services—more mobility in the terminals and greater speed en route. If the railroads don't care to provide these things, the truckers will be glad to handle the business.

POLITICAL OPENING

Are we about to witness the emergence of a new political party in the United States?

One cannot escape that thought in any evaluation of the current spectacle: that of the Democrats espousing strong federalism while the Republicans turn about to uphold states' rights.

Certainly, here is a reversal of party alignment and policy such as occurred in the past only on the eve of a new political division. So eventually we may get a new party out of this strange recrudescence—a party with more clearly defined lines and based on more specific issues. Thus have political parties been born.

Hey! When Did That Happen?

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, June 23—There's really no need for a Democratic National convention this year—everything that concerns the Democratic party and its leadership can be, and indeed really was, epitomized in the record of the 74th congress which has just adjourned.

President Roosevelt controlled both houses of congress, which spent $20,000,000—the highest amount authorized under any congress in wartime or peace-time in American history.

Despite assurances given just a year ago by Mr. Roosevelt that his program had reached "substantial completion" and that a "breathing spell" is here—decidedly so, as the president expressed it in his letter to Roy Howard, the administration influence was powerful enough to force through into a law a tax bill that revolutionizes the tax structure of the nation.

For many years to come, unless repealed, the new tax on management and prudence, otherwise called the "undistributed surplus tax," will affect the policies of companies, their future credit, and their safety in the event of a business depression.

But the new tax law was not the only violation of the spirit and letter of the "breathing spell." The Walsh-Healey bill, enacted in the closing hours of the session, introduces a new aspect of fascism so far as America is concerned. It bestows absolute power in the hands of the executive branch of the government to determine the scale of wages and hours which shall be observed by all contractors who furnish articles or equipment to the government in excess of $10,000. Various agricultural products are exempted and the executive is given certain discretion to make exceptions "in specific cases or otherwise when justice or the public interest will be served thereby."

It is a curious inconsistency that the president, who, a few weeks ago, said there was a "no-man's land" prescribed by the supreme court and that minimum wages could not be fixed, is about to put his signature on an act of congress which undertakes to empower the secretary of labor, in cooperation with all other government agencies, to require the payment of certain minimum wages and a limitation on maximum hours of work done for the government.

If the government, of course, can constitutionally compel certain standards of wages on products bought by it, the law can easily be amended to cover, as indeed it was written in the original senate version, all subcontractors as well as all persons furnishing directly or indirectly any supplies to the government. It can be made to embrace, as the senate first proposed, all persons or businesses which directly or indirectly receive grants or loans or benefits of any kind from the federal government. Thus, by prohibiting shipments of freight over railroads that have outstanding loans made by the government, the whole industrial system can be dominated from Washington.

Obviously, a business which makes products needed by Uncle Sam—who spends hundreds of millions annually for supplies—cannot have one set of wages for government work and another for private work. Likewise, the principal contractor can be required in effect to boycott all subcontractors who do not conform.

The Walsh-Healey bill has been called a revival of the NRA. The measure is significant of the unceasing desire of the New Deal to put into effect law which contain processes that have been declared by the supreme court to be means to an unconstitutional end.

Another vital piece of legislation known as the Robinson-Patman bill, designed to appeal to those who are politically chain-store in their views, may have a disturbing effect on business and in the end give the chains a great advantage that they have had before. The new law may force large chains to acquire control outright of producing factories and will injure the independents by making it more difficult for them to get the benefit of quantity discounts than heretofore.

A complete rearrangement of the tax system of the country, the introduction of the fascist principle of government regulation of wages and hours, and the spending of such sums as make the budget fore unbalanced than it ever was before is the record of the 74th congress that the forthcoming Democratic convention will ratify.

Nor is the Republican record of opposition too good either. For the Republicans in the senate were asleep last Saturday night when the Walsh-Healey bill was jammed through, though it could have been debated and probably would have failed, as did the Guffey coal bill. Incidentally, the last 24 hours of congress marked a big victory for William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and a defeat for his opponent John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. Mr. Lewis saw his Guffey bill go down to defeat by a well-organized filibuster, but the Walsh-Healey bill, demanded by the A. F. of L., was pushed through successfully.

The Walsh-Healey bill, as finally adopted by both houses, is much tamer than the measure that passed the senate a year ago, but it opens the way to further government regulation of wages and hours. Under a reactionary administration, labor will be at the mercy of the government bureaucrats. Hence, labor must inevitably participate in politics, and the formation of a labor party some day, as espoused by John Lewis, may be the result.

Clearly, the happenings in congress make the Democratic convention a ratification meeting. For the platform is the record of the New Deal itself and the candidate is the man who exercised more influence on the making of that record by congress than has any other president of the United States on the work of the national legislature.

The New Deal convention could just as well be held on the White House lawn in less than a half hour proceeding—for one man dominates the American government today just as one man holds sway in Germany and Italy—a phenomenal demonstration of the fact that the constitution is sufficiently flexible to permit the congress

After supper pop was standing at the front door smoking a cigar and me and Pud Simkins and Shorty Judge was sitting on the steps talking about different subjects, and a man with a violin and a man with a flute started to play free music a little ways up the street hoping people would pay them for it, and Puds said, Hay, how would it be for us fellows to start up an orchestra?

Sounding like a pretty good idea, and I said, Sure, I bet we could get up a swell orchestra. Skippy Martin can blow tones by whistling through his fingers, that's a good lot of noise rite by itself to start with, I said.

Sure, and Glasses Magee can play a mouth organ grate, Puds said. He can blow out and blow in and every way, and it sounds like a tune even when it's not exactly, he said, and Shorty Judge said, Sure, that makes 2 already, and how about Sid Hunt, he can make swell sounds by rubbing 2 pieces of sandpaper against each other.

Sure, that makes 3 and I'm a champion with a comb and a hunk of tissue paper, I said. If you didn't see what I was doing with you'd never guess what it was, I said, and Puds said, Well aw heck, that's what I was thinking of for myself, I'm famous for playing on a comb and tissue paper.

Well so am I, gosh shang it, that's the very instrument I wanted to play, Shorty Judge said, and I said, Well all rite, we can all 3 play one, what's going to stop us? I was at an orchestra concert once and I bet there was 20 violin players, and nobody seemed to mind, I said.

Well where are we going to do our practicing and rehearsing? Puds said, and I said, In my house up in my room mite be a good place. Can we, pop? I said and pop said, Yee gods have a hart. Now listen, here's 5 cents for each of you to go out and get yourselves and ice cream cone and take your minds off the subject, and if that's bribery, make the most of it, he said.

Wich we hurry up did.

To maintain health, about 2000 cubic feet of air is required every hour.

To introduce fascism and then, by concentration of political power, make whatever amendments are necessary in the constitution to ratify the fascist policies that happen to be declared invalid by the supreme court.

Modern Life

YOUTH FACES THE FUTURE

Youth is singularly self-conscious in this generation.

Youth movements have long been under way in Europe. Young Democrats and Young Republicans flourish among us.

Some look upon these movements of young minds as movements wholly whipped up by astute propagandists concerned to tie youth to the cart tail of this or that particular clique.

These movements, of course, are more than that.

In one instance after another, the more shortsighted and socially insensitive of the older generation have permitted intolerable conditions to obtain and have thus lashed the spirit of youth into pardonable resentment.

There is a danger at the heart of these youth movements, however, which youth itself does well to consider.

The danger is in an emphasis on youth as youth.

It is not that we want youth to take the country over and run it. It is not that we want age to have a monopoly on affairs.

The problem is to see to it that the control of affairs is lodged in the hands of disciplined and socially sensitive intelligence whether that brand of intelligence is found in young men or old.

It is quite as dangerous to the national future to pit youth against age or vice versa as it is to pit class against class.

We need a collaboration between intelligent youth and intelligent age, the eagerness of one aided by the experience of the other.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

AT THE TABLE

At what age should children be allowed to sit at the family table? That must depend upon the habits of the household and the self-control of the child. Babies under three are ruled out. Eating at the table with adults is too much of a strain on them. They have their meals ahead of the family and are in bed by dinner time.

The "family table" usually means the evening meal when the whole family is present. This is an important occasion with an etiquette all its own. This must be observed by every member of the family, the children included, which presupposes their training. Where do they get the training if not at the table?

Luncheon offers this opportunity. Mother usually presides then, and it is at this time the children get their instruction and see the correct pattern for table manners. It is from this table the children graduate to the dinner table when they are supposed to behave very well indeed.

Of course they are not 100 per cent well-mannered, but they manage very well if they are not made to feel conscious of their shortcomings. It is difficult for a mother or father to ignore some of the mistakes the children make, but it is best to do so rather than run the risk of breaking all barriers of formality and allowing the meal to become a bickering gabble. Make all corrections afterward, never at the table.

Children will talk mouthfuls that are too much for them. They will talk with their mouths full. They will take hold of their spoons in the wrong fashion. They will want to talk and neglect the food on their plates. They can't wait; they interrupt the one who is talking. They will introduce topics that are in bad taste. All this they will do and more, and one has to be patient and kindly and formally polite about it if one wants the children to learn polite forms. It is by practical experience that etiquette is learned.

Why bother?

Once there was a young man who was graduated from a great university and ready for an important position. He was able to fill that position as far as knowledge and ability were in question. But he would have to meet people who were well-mannered, polite in all their ways, to whom the right use of a fork was a ritual.
